Rubber, Gas Ration Heads to State Case

SUBPENAED TO TESTIFY ON CONTROL NEED

Truman Says Ickes, Jeffers, Henderson and Eastman Will Face Investigators.

MORE OIL CUTS SEEN

Committee Chairman Declares 'People Entitled to Know the Facts.'

By WILLIAM THEIS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Senator Harry S. Truman (D., Mo.), chairman of the special committee investigating the war effort, announced today that the "big four" of rubber-gas rationing — Henderson, Jeffers, Ickes and Eastman—will appear before his group Friday to state the case for their control program.

Truman disclosed that the four leaders have been subpoenaed to testify on the necessity for gasoline rationing to conserve rubber, as it appeared that further reductions may be made in petroleum supplies for the east coast.

Additional cuts in oil supplies for heating of homes, commercial establishments, amusement places and schools in the eastern states may be necessary to meet army demands for oil for the North African campaign.

The OPA is now studying a list of all users of petroleum products to determine where reductions can be made. Officials believed, however, that there will be no further cuts in the gasoline rations for eastern motorists.

Commenting on the fight over nation-wide gasoline rationing, Truman said, "the people are entitled to know the facts. "I am personally convinced of its necessity, but we must get the facts before the people as to why it is necessary."

"Rationing will enforce itself if it is necessary and the people are

Warn Hoarders Butter Spoils Within 60 Days

Although Mansfield's stock of butter is far below normal levels, no serious shortage is expected, within the next few weeks, a survey of Mansfield dairies showed today.

This coincides with information from other cities throughout the state which assured consumers that Ohio has enough butter to go around with reasonable curtailment of consumption, mostly through the use of substitutes in cooking and baking.

Only one Ohio city, Toledo, reported a definite shortage. Many grocers there had no stocks and some restaurants were reducing allotments to customers.

Cautioning against a "run" on butter, and the possibility of hoarding, such as followed the announcements of the rationing of sugar and coffee, local dairy officials today warned that butter cannot be safely stored for more than 60 days in household refrig-

Buy Bomber Bond Drive Passes Goal

Women Report $175,000 Raised; Seek Funds For Second Ship.

Mansfield's 65 women's clubs which have waged a $175,000 war bond drive for the past three weeks in a determined effort to buy a B-26 bomber to pit against the Axis went over the top by $25,000 last night and announced their intention of raising another $50,000 in the last week of the drive to purchase a $75,000 pursuit ship.

The 6,500 or more women who have carried their drive practically from door to door since the contest opened Nov. 1, were urged by Mrs. Louis J. Ott, chairman of the Richland county women's division, to go out in earnest the remainder of the week and "work hard" to raise another $50,000 needed to buy the second ship.

Results of the drive were announced at the first war bond rally held by the women's division in John Simpson auditorium last night as a special event of "Women At War" week.

Mrs. Ott named the first 10 clubs topping the lost in the sale of bonds but said that they would not be listed in the order of their sales until Nov. 30, when the drive closes. The list includes: American Association of University Women, Business and Professional Women, Cottage Garden club, Auxiliary to the Ohio State Federation of Postoffice Clerks; Lumbermen's Girls' club, Mansfield Garden club, Soroptimist club; Women's Guild of the First Presbyterian church; Women of the Moose, and Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church.

The club winning first place in the contest will receive a $50 war bond; second place, a $25 bond, and third place, $10 in war savings stamps.

Only a small percentage of the women engaged in the drive attended the rally that had for its guest attractions, Arthur Reilly, radio news analyst, and Miss Dorothy McVitty, pretty singing star, both from Cincinnati radio station WLW.

The qualities of the bomber that will carry the name "City of Mansfield, Ohio," were pointed out

THREE INJURED

Hunter in Critical Condition After Willard Accident.

WILLARD—Three persons were injured, one critically, in a head-on automobile crash a mile west of Willard on Grange road shortly before 7 a. m. today.

Most critically injured is Owen Stanfield, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Stanfield, Willard. He suffered a fractured skull and severe lacerations about the neck. Riding with Stanfield but less seriously injured was John Murphy, also 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Murphy, Willard.

On their way hunting this morning, the car in which Stanfield and Murphy were riding collided head-on with the car of Ralph Weaver, 55, residing west of Willard, and employed by the Railway Ice company. Weaver, according to state highway patrolmen, was driving east and the two youths were headed west.

All three are in Municipal hospital. Stanfield and Murphy are employed in the railroad yards here.

FINNS WILL PAY

Promises to Meet Indebtedness to U. S. as Usual.

HELSINKI, (From Finnish Broadcasts) — (AP) — The official Helsinki raido said it was announced today that Finland would continue to repay her war debt to the United States as installments fall due "just as long as Finland can obtain United States dollars for the purpose."

Hjalmar Procope, Finnish minister to Washington, it said, has been instructed to pay the next installment, due in December, from Finnish assets frozen in the United States.

Dakar Naval Base, Rich Prize for Allies

EXPECT RUSH FOR GAS BOOKS

Ration Officials Predict Heavy Registration Today For Extra Gasoline.

Rationing board officials predicted that today's registration for supplemental gasoline rations would surpass the total of the last two days when about 1,500 applied Monday and a like number Tuesday for motor fuel beyond the A book restrictions.

Members of the gasoline panel this morning were studying a number of challenged applications for B or C books but reported that public co-operation has reduced their task to a minimum.

Today's registration, from 1 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 9 p. m. will be for the last-name group included in the letters H to L inclusive with Friday's registration for the M through Q group at the same hours. All registration is in the John Simpson Junior high school gymnasium.

There will be no registration Thursday. Saturday's hours have been changed to 12 noon to 5 p. m. with no evening registration session. Volunteer regis-

Remember This, Adolf?

(By International News Service)

Just a reminder!

It was on Sept. 30, 1942, that Adolf Hitler told an audience at the Berlin Sportspalast:

"We shall take Stalingrad, you may depend on it . . . the occupation of Stalingard will become a gigantic success.

"No human being shall ever push us away from that spot!"

P. S. Among those present on the rostrum, bemedalled and smilingly confident, was Field Marshal Erwin (Westbound) Rommel.

ENDORSE LUTZ

Labor Groups Approve Former Legislator as Rent Chief.

Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington lumber dealer and former member of the state legislature today had the endorsement of the Richland county A F of L and C I O councils for the post of area rent director which was vacated last Saturday by Le Roy B. Hamilton who resigned after labor organizations had protested his appointment.

Members of a joint citizens committee representing both labor groups, meeting last night, endorsed Lutz who was unsuccessful Democratic candidate for county representative at the Nov. 3 election.

The committee's action will be certified to Roland Schell, regional rent director, Cleveland. The Mansfield office serves Richland, Crawford, and Ashland counties, with headquarters in the Gardner garage at 116 Park avenue west.

Route 30 Paving to Be Only Half Done by Deadline Nov. 30

Admitting that not even half of the paving phase of the U. S. Route 30-N grade separation project west of Mansfield will be completed by the Nov. 30 deadline, Vance Grimes, state highway division engineer declared today that Lombardo Brothers, Cleveland contractors, will be required to link the south lane to the main highway before suspending work for the winter.

No concrete has been laid between the B. and O. overhead crossing and West Fourth street, or between the Erie railroad subway and the highway continuation since the Erie bridge structure was completed two weeks or more ago, Grimes admitted, attributing the delay to prolonged wet weather.

"The fill between the B. and O. and Fourth street," he said today, "is ready for pouring concrete and 10 days of good weather will permit linking of both ends of the 22-ft. south lane pavement into the highway system. This will permit east-and-west travel during the winter."

No work has been accomplished on the north lane paving, the contractors, in filing a 90-day extension last August averring that delay in receiving steel had held up the job that long. The project was started in July, 1941, with the state-federal contract fixing next Monday as the completion deadline.

State Highway Director Hal Sours, asked Monday if the extension plea had been acted on, replied: "The request still stands and will be acted upon if it becomes necessary."

Engineers have admitted that whatever extension is granted will be from some date around next April 1, indicating travel inconvenience through a third summer.

BOUND OVER IN SHOOTING CASE

Salesman Pleads Not Guilty After Gunfire in Bartley Avenue Apartment.

Pleading not guilty when arraigned in municipal court this morning on charges growing out of a shooting affray in the Zediker apartments, Bartley and Woodward avenues, at 1:30 a. m. yesterday in which the lives of a woman and two policemen were imperiled, Robert M. Allen, salesman for radio station WMAN, was bound over to the county grand jury under $1,000 bond.

Allen gave his plea even before his attorney, Lydon H. Beam, could answer for him. Acting Judge Herbert H. Schettler fixed the bond which Mrs. Allen told officials would be supplied from Cleveland sources.

Allen is charged specifically with "pointing and discharging firearms," for which the state penal code provides a penalty of a fine not exceeding $100, a sentence of not more than one year, or both.

Mrs. Allen, whose divorce action is pending in Cleveland courts, was present at today's arraignment of her husband and conversed with

EARLY PAPER THURSDAY

As is customary on holidays, The News-Journal will publish earlier than usual tomorrow, Thanksgiving day. The holiday edition will be delivered to homes before noon.

CITY PREPARED FOR WARTIME THANKSGIVING

Family Feasting and Church Services to Highlight Observances.

PLANTS REMAIN OPEN

Employes in War Work to Stay on Jobs; Business, Public Offices Close.

Mansfield will pause tomorrow to give thanks for the harvest—the first in World war II—when state and nation returns to the traditional custom of celebrating Thanksgiving day on the last Thursday in November after two early observances called by the president in 1940 and 1941.

For many the day will spell homecoming. Despite travel restrictions, growing more rigid daily, families will gather for the Thanksgiving feast on what appears to be the last holiday for which tires and gasoline will be available for pleasure trips for the duration of the war.

Absent however will be more than 4,000 of the city and county's sons who will eat their Thanksgiving dinner in military bases and along fighting fronts throughout the world. For the men in uniform who find themselves in Mansfield tomorrow, the USO Men's Service club in the Y. M. C. A. will keep "open house."

Army and navy officers in training at Mansfield Municipal airport will, in most cases, be dinner guests in local homes Thursday night. Although a few of the 76 men now stationed at the flying field will be able to spend the day with their own families at least 60 will share the hospitality of Mansfield folks. Invitations were handled by the Men's Service club.

The holiday celebration will begin tonight when hundreds will attend union services in three city churches to give thanks akin to those offered by the Pilgrim fathers on that first Thanksgiving day

OFF FOR CAMP

27 To Spend Thanksgiving at Army Reception Center.

Twenty-seven Mansfield boys who will spend Thanksgiving in an army reception center left the Board 1 district in the city at 9:30 a. m. today for Camp Perry.

Hundreds of persons braved the cold to cheer the reservists who left at a time when most families are preparing for their annual Thanksgiving homecoming.

First of three to leave this week, the contingent boarded the bus on Park avenue west near Walnut street. The Senior high school band played a concert before the bus departed.

Another group from Board 1 and reservists to fill the Board 2 quota for November will leave Friday morning when the C. I. O. Local 711 band will play.

Squeeze Nazis In Stiff Push On Don, Volga

Allies Range Over Tunisia, Clash With Axis In Air, on Land

BULLETIN

LONDON—The scale of Axis air attacks in North Africa was reported authoritatively today to show that Adolf Hitler was backing up the enemy land forces with great air power for a bitter-end stand on the Mediterranean shore—probably even to the extent of draining planes from his imperilled Russian front.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—American, British and French forces were reported roaming the length and breadth of Tunisia today, clashing occasionally with enemy patrols in short but violent engagements and preparing the ground for a final and bitter reckoning with the Axis in Africa.

Long-range American P-38 fighters ranged the skies above the ground troops, seeking out German and Italian concentrations, attacking troop columns and trains and occasionally engaging Axis planes. Four German planes were shot down and a troop train was riddled by these fighters near Gabes yesterday.

British observers said that both the British Eighth army in Libya and the Allied army in Tunisia had built up their forces for a crushing blow at both ends of the extended German lines.

Reports of engagements between patrols of the opposing armies in southern Tunisia and the aerial attack on an Axis troop train near Gabes, little more than 100 miles from the Libyan border, suggested that the Germans were

Russian Offensive Jabs 80 Miles Into Enemy's Defense Line

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—The usually well-informed British Press association said today an unconfirmed report is circulating in London that General Von Hoth, German commander in the Stalingrad sector, has ordered a general withdrawal.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—German losses in dead and captured alone had rocketed close to 100,000, as the Russian counter-offensive gained momentum and squeezed the invaders' escape corridor from Stalingrad down to a width of 30 miles, battlefront dispatches reported today.

From the long-besieged city the Russians reported rolling back a Nazi wedge to the Volga, clearing another avenue for supply and reinforcement of the garrison which already is lashing out from its defensive positions and beating back the Nazis street-by-street.

Northwest of the city the Russian offensive penetrated 80 miles into the depth of German defenses within the great Don bend, and to the southwest the Russians had stabbed 65 miles into the invaders' lines. The jaws of the nutcracker still were closing.

A communique added 3,400 more German dead overnight to the toll in the Stalingrad-Don bend sector alone, raising the official count of the killed to 44,400 in six days, and battlefront dispatches said the tally when all reports were in would be close to 50,000.

The communique gave no spe-

COUNTER: Report Japs Trying Flank Maneuver on Guadalcanal

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—American forces advancing westward toward main Japanese troop concentrations on Guadalcanal island today faced a possible enemy attempt to outflank them.

What motive the Japanese have for their sudden activities in the Mambulo region, southwest of Henderson field, was not clear, but military experts suggested these possibilities:

1. The establishment of artillery positions within easy range of Henderson field.

2. A flanking drive down the Matanikau river to cut off Americans, now fighting west of their stream, from their main positions.

American forces were believed to have the means—artillery and aircraft—to cope with either move.

The Mambulo region, which has an elevation of 1,500 feet, is near the source of the Matanikau river which flows northward to the sea, about four miles distant. It is ideally situated for artillery operations against Henderson field. Its dense woods offer excellent cover.

Informed sources here doubted that the Japanese have any great quantities of artillery ashore. Lieut. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, marine corps commandant, who visited Guadalcanal last month, said the Japanese apparently had some 105 millimeter howitzers on the island.

A battery of perhaps three howitzers was drawn up by the Japanese to a high point overlooking

SLAUGHTER: Wise Gets Proof Hitler to Kill Remaining Jews

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Details of a campaign which Dr. Stephen S. Wise said was planned to exterminate all Jews in Nazi-occupied Europe by the end of the year are to be laid before a committee of leading Jewish organizations today in New York.

The story which Dr. Wise said was confirmed by the state department and a personal representative of President Roosevelt — deals with how more than 2,000,000 Jews already have been slaughtered in accordance with a race extinction order by Adolf Hitler.

Before leaving for New York to address the committee this afternoon, Dr. Wise, chairman of the World Jewish congress and president of the American Jewish congress, said he carried official documentary proof that "Hitler has ordered the extermination of all Jews in Nazi-ruled Europe in 1942."

After a consultation with state department officials, he announced they had termed authentic certain sources which revealed that approximately half of the estimated 4,000,000 Jews in Nazi-occupied Europe already had been killed and that Hitler was wrathful at "failure to complete the extermination immediately."

To speed the slaughter of the other half during the remaining month before the edict's deadline, Dr. Wise said the Nazis were moving some four-fifths of the Jews in Hitler-ruled European countries to Poland. There, he said, Nazi doctors were killing them at the rate of "more than 100 men an hour, per doctor," by injecting air bubbles into their veins — "the simplest and cheapest method" they could find.

LONDON—(AP)—The world Jewish congress reported today that 2,300 Jews in Norway had been arrested in a house-to-house manhunt by the Germans and sent to concentration camps preparatory to being put to work in northern Norway or to Poland.

SPORTSMEN TO HEAR SERVICE

Fredericktown Pastor Gives Special Sermon For Outdoorsmen.

FREDERICKTOWN— On Sunday morning, members of the Fredericktown Sportsmen's association will attend a special service at the Methodist church, Earl Ewers, president of that body, announced today.

When asked what character the service would assume, Dr. Riley, pastor of the church, stated that its theme would be "The Charm of Overcoming Uncertainty," since this motive is particularly strong in every sportsman.

"Ohio hunters respect the Sabbath as a matter of law," he said, "and it is only fitting that the church should in some way signalize the hobby which is so important to them. Furthermore, this group of men, numbering more than 200, constitutes an important factor in the life of our community. We shall be proud to have the sportsmen and their families as our guests."

Other officers of the Sportsmen's association are Paul Hillier, vice president, Foster Auten, secretary, and Hugh McLarnan, treasurer.

As guests of the church, all attending members and their families will be seated in a body.

SOCIAL EVENTS INCLUDE LUNCHEON AND PARTY

Tuesday Book Club Meets at Country Club: Farewell Party Given for Mrs. Louis J. Gerstmeyer Who's Going to Florida.

FOR the Tuesday Book club's program at Westbrook Country club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. T. Strickler reviewed "The Days of Ofelia" by Gertrude Diamant. The book, which presents an accurate and interesting picture of Mexico and its people, has been praised by critics because it can be classified in any of several classifications: as a novel, a biography, a history or even as poetry, because it is so well written.

Hostess for the salad-luncheon, which was served to 16 members, was Mrs. Leo D. Wright. A lovely arrangement of chrysanthemums centered the table. On Dec. 8, the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Oliver C. Henkel, 770 Andover road, for luncheon at 1:15 p. m. Mrs. William Layton will present the book review.

Farewell Party Given.

Another enjoyable affair was a party given at the Colonial Guest House recently in honor of Mrs. Louis J. Gertsmeyer, who will leave Thursday for Miami, Fla., to live with her husband who is stationed there in the Navy personnel department. Hostesses for the farewell party and personal shower were Miss Marjorie Miles and Mrs. Robert Weil.

Cards were played during the evening. Winners of prizes were Mrs. Reno R. Chicolani and Miss Martha Gertsmeyer. A patriotic color scheme was used when luncheon was served late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Gertsmeyer will make their home at 327 S. W. Ninth street, Miami, Fla.

Home-Made Toys To Be Popular This Christmas

By MARGARET KERNODLE
(AP) Feature Writer

Children of the present generation probably never saw so many home-made toys as they will see this Christmas.

Everywhere you look there's another display of "how-to-do-it" by stitching, knitting or crocheting. In knitting shops, department stores, even in some drug stores the "do-it-this-easy-way" idea is taking.

Homemade animals proved popular last year. This time they're really ringing the Christmas bells. These popular animals include giraffe, elephant, horse, rabbit, cat and dog. A package with one animal to make is 50 cents. For about $4 you can put together a fair-sized zoo.

If you're bravely trying your own designs, don't go in for intricate doodling. The simpler the lines of the animal or toy, the better luck you will have finishing it.

It's wiser to draw it on paper before cutting the fabric. Allow at least a quarter of an inch for seams. Sew seams inside and out. That will keep the stuffing within the toy if your daughter wants to hug it very-very hard or your son decides to throw it around. You can stitch the inside seam on the machine and strengthen it outside with hand sewing for finer finish.

Left-over yarn from sweaters can be used for manes for horses, mustaches for cats, or hair for ragdolls. Eyes, ears and mouths can be embroidered for simplicity and safety.

For little girls, mamas are stitching up homemade doll clothes like the dressmaker does for daughter. Some mothers are making daughter and doll a dress alike for Christmas cheer.

For little boys the bean bag is back. This time the beans are sewn up in outlines which look realistic: frogs or other jumping animals.

PLAN "DAUGHTER'S DAY."

When Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40 met in the Memorial building on Monday, Mrs. Marguerite Fair read a letter from the department press correspondent calling for more newspaper items on tent work, so they can appear in the National Tribune. "Daughter's Day" will be observed on Dec. 14 with a covered-dish dinner. Mrs. Della Cochran, chairman, Mrs. Lillian Robnolte, Mrs. Ella McHugh and Mrs. Ethel Gump will be in charge. There will be an exchange of 25-cent Christmas gifts. Committee for the Christmas party will consist of Mrs. Essie Miller and candidates initiated while she was in office.

Talk on Alaska Given for Club

Miss Justine Sterkel was the guest speaker of the Fortnight club last evening at its meeting at the Women's Club. Her topic was her recent trip to Alaska. Miss Sterkel also showed colored motion pictures of her trip.

A Christmas party will be given by the club Dec. 8 at 6:30 o'clock at the Women's Club. The program committee, consisting of Miss Shires, Miss Kathleen Mendenhall, and Mrs. J. P. Lindley, jr., will serve as hostesses.

How to Take Care Of Hubby's Clothes

When hubby goes off to war keep smiling until he's out of sight and then get busy at something useful. For example, go over his wardrobe. Unimportant as it may seem, preserving his civvies is a sensible conservation gesture. See that all his socks, shirts and underwear are carefully mended and stored. Have his shoes repaired and treated with a lubricant to keep them from drying and cracking.

Then get at the really important job, his suits and overcoats. The safest and most economical way is to have them all cleaned by the best dry cleaner in town, and stored for the duration. You'll run no chance then of having them chewed up by moths.

ALL THAT'S NEEDED

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—The 1942 income tax law and regulations promise to be so complicated that the University of California has opened courses of instruction to teach the taxpayer how to fill them out.

Sorority Plans To Give Holiday Dance Jan. 2

Arrangements were made for a holiday dance to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Jan. 2, when Delta Sigma Zeta sorority met yesterday evening at the home of Miss Mary Lou Cubic, Marion avenue road. Miss Eleanor Doolittle was associate hostess.

Committees in charge of the dance are headed by Miss Miriam Hoff, general chairman. Orchestra committee includes Miss Phyllis Bottomley and Miss Doris McKnight. Ticket committee, Miss Jane Senert and Marjorie Hegnauer. Publicity chairman is Miss Marge Urich.

A large Thanksgiving basket was filled to give to a needy family adopted by the sorority. Welcomed as a new member was Miss Rose Swoyer. Refreshments were served late in the evening. The next meeting will be Dec. 9. The place will be announced.

Child Guidance Club Meeting Held Tuesday

Plans were made to adopt a needy family for Christmas at the meeting of the Child Guidance club yesterday at the home of Mrs. Floyd O'Brien, Blanche street.

Papers were given by Mrs. Gaylord Herring, whose subject was "The Foster Child," and Mrs. G. P. Van Arnam, who spoke on "The Delinquent Child."

A Christmas party for the children will be given Dec. 12. Plans were also made for a party for members and their husbands, but a definite date has not yet been set. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harold Moore. There will be no business meeting. It will be in the form of a Christmas party and exchange.

Sodality Meets; Plans Suppers

Plans were completed for the cafeteria-style suppers to be served in the church basement Dec. 1 and 2 in connection with the annual bazaar, at the regular monthly meeting of the St. Rita's Sodality Monday.

Many of the members present volunteered to donate cookies to U. S. O. Canteen in the city at the request of Mrs. Ackerman, U. S. O. cookie-jar chairman.

Reception of new members into the Sodality will be held the evening of Dec. 8. The next regular meeting will be Dec. 21.

SEMPER FIDELIS.

Semper Fidelis club members met last night at the home of Mrs. Harley Humphrey in Coolridge Heights. Mrs. E. Snowberger of Washington, D. C., was a guest. Prizes in bingo were won by Mrs. J. C. Edwards and the hostess. Thanksgiving appointments were used when luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held at 6 p. m. on Dec. 8 when dinner will be served at Staiger's tea room. Gifts will be exchanged.

CYANE CLUB MEETS.

A Christmas "Pal Party" was planned last evening when members of the Cyane club met at Miss Rosemary Herlihy's apartment on Sherman place. Miss Isabelle Kass will be hostess for the affair at her home on West Third street. Guest at the meeting was Miss Dorothy Burn. Prizes in bridge went to Mrs. Ted Patterson and Mrs. Arthur Berry. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with green and white appointments.

Dessert-Luncheon Served Tuesday To O.E.S. Group

Ruth Chapter Circle, Order of Eastern Star, met at the Masonic temple Tuesday afternoon for a dessert-luncheon. Miss Anna Horn and her committee had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. John Leistensnider, vice president, conducted the business meeting, at which 55 members were present. Bridge was played at 12 tables. High score in contract was won by Mrs. Grace Chew, and winner in auction was Mrs. Thelma Hout.

Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with a country home, made from bread and covered with frosting, placed on a mirror. Miniature turkeys were placed in the yard, which was enclosed by a small fence. Tapers lighted the table.

Plans for the December meeting will be completed and announced later. Mrs. Ethel Hendrich and her committee will be in charge at that time.

Mothers' Club Plans to Have Penny Supper

Plans were completed for a penny supper to be given Dec. 4 at the Hedges school, when the Hedges Mothers' club met at the school yesterday afternoon.

"Mothers" was the subject chosen by Dr. J. Campbell White, who was guest speaker. The club decided to make table favors again this year for the Thanksgiving dinner of the Children's home.

A tap dance was given by Arlene Locke. Mary Lou Lorentz gave several piano selections and Carl Drago presented a vocal solo. When refreshments were served, Mrs. D. H. McGinnis presided at the table which was decorated with a Thanksgiving centerpiece. Others on that committee included Mrs. Paul Stahl, Mrs. B. C. Mawhorr, Mrs. William Helsel and Mrs. R. H. McGregor.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party and a gift exchange.

Given Party on 75th Birthday

Mrs. Lewis Hoffman, West Fourth street, was entertained by her family last evening in honor of her 75th birthday, with a party at the Denzler farm, Little Washington road.

When dinner was served at 7 p. m., six-year-old Buddy Albers, a great grandson of Mrs. Hoffman, presented the birthday cake. Mrs. Hoffman was remembered during the day by her friends who gave her a card shower, flowers, and other gifts.

CHIMES FOR TOKYO

PAINESVILLE, O.—(U.P.)—The 38-year-old county courthouse tower clock broke down. It got a new electric motor to supplant the 2,500 pounds of chime weights—which will go into the scrap drive to ring chimes over Tokyo.

WOMEN LEARN HOW TO CAMOUFLAGE FOODS

Mrs. Julia Kiene Demonstrates to 570 Health for Victory Club Members How "Discarded Food Treasures" Can Be Used.

"HIDDEN HEALTH" was the program subject for the tenth monthly meeting of the Health for Victory club which was held in the Westinghouse auditorium Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Julia Kiene, the company's home economics director and founder of the club, used as her theme, a "Treasure Hunt" for the discarded, half forgotten foods that contain many hidden vitamins and minerals.

Liver, lamb and cottage cheese were selected as the "most disliked" foods in a recent survey among Health for Victory club members. Since these foods are rich in vitamins and minerals, Mrs. Kiene demonstrated ways of camouflaging them so that everyone would find them appealing both to the eyes and to the mouth. Assisting Mrs. Kiene in the "Treasure Hunt" to discover the camouflaged foods were Mrs. Clarence Metz, Mrs. George Zacharisen and Mrs. J. M. Them.

Mrs. Kiene stated that a good, healthy breakfast is probably the most important "discarded food treasure" in the American home today. She demonstrated that a breakfast of orange juice, toast, oatmeal and milk, and coffee supplies one-third of the daily food requirement. December Meal-Planning Guides were distributed to the 570 women in attendance at the meeting. The booklet includes daily menus, recipes, "hidden health treasures," and a meat chart. Another feature is the Christmas dinner which will be prepared for all men in the service.

Stretch One Pound Of Butter to Two

How to make a little go a long way is what everyone likes to hear today. Here's a recipe for stretching a pound of butter to two: Soften 1 envelope of gelatine in ¼ cup cold water, placing cup over hot water until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Cut one pound of butter into small pieces and place in a bowl over hot water until butter is quite soft, but not melted. Gradually whip one 14½-ounce can of evaporated milk and the dissolved gelatin into buttter with an egg beater or electric mixer. After liquids are thoroughly beaten into butter, add salt to taste. If milk separates, beat until it is all mixed in. Pack into dish and keep "stretched" butter in refrigerator when not in use. A little yellow vegetable coloring may be added if a rich, butter colored spread is preferred.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The city plans to donate its surplus shrubbery to the army. The shrubbery will be removed from parkways where its growth has created a traffic hazard, and will be used to beautify nearby army bases in the area.

HOW TO FIGHT

LUKE FIELD, Ariz.—(U.P.)—"Fly like an angel and shoot like a fiend" was the parting admonition given by Col. Ross G. Hoyt to the largest flying class ever graduated here.

Couple United In Quiet Ceremony At Local Church

Announcement is made today of the marriage of Miss Bernice Oldaker and R. R. Darling, which was solemnized in St. Luke's Lutheran church at 10 a. m. on Nov. 23. Rev. Herbert S. Garnes officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Smith of Martinsburg.

Attendants for the couple were Mrs. Lydia Thornberry and the bridegroom's son, R. P. Darling of Cleveland. Both the bride and Mrs. Thornberry were attired in soldier blue frocks. Mrs. Darling had an orchid corsage and Mrs. Thornberry's flowers were gardenias.

Mrs. Darling is a former employe of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Her husband also is a former resident of this city. They will make their home in Cleveland, where Mr. Darling is employed by an aircraft corporation.

Lodge Committee Meets Tuesday; Buys War Bond

—Two new members, Miss Arleen Peters and Mrs. Ethel White, were welcomed into the Child Care and Training committee of the Wome nof the Moose at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Willa Galloway, Arthur avenue, last evening.

Mrs. Hazel Donley, president, conducted the business meeting at which 17 members and two guests, Mrs. Lester Raby and Mrs. Helen Perry, senior regent, were present. A complete layette was donated to the Friendly House. The club also bought a bond to add to the "Buy a Bomber" contest.

Luncheon was served at a long table. Bridge prizes were won by Miss Peters, Miss Josephine Sherman, Mrs. White and Miss Helen Peters. The place for the next meeting, Dec. 28, will be announced.

STRETCH IT by adding one cup cooked rice, 1 medium chopped onion, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, salt and pepper.

STUFF mixture into green peppers, tomatoes and zucchini squash, bake one hour in moderate oven.

SERVE with applause, advises George Mardikian, of San Francisco, who calls this dish Victory Garden Dolma.

'Talking' Books Cheer Blind In State Hospital

PUEBLO, Colo.—(INS)—"Talking Books" are the newest thing to aid morale at the blind wing of the Colorado State hospital at Pueblo.

Twice a week the blind patients gather in the large day room to hear records of the world's most famous literature. Entire books are reproduced and played slowly so that eager listeners can follow closely. For example, Charles Dickens' 'Oliver Twist' is in an album of 31 records while the book 'Merton of the Movies' comes in a 22 record set.

So far, the most called for books have been "Snow White," "Winter in Taos" and "Uncle Remus."

The "talking books" are furnished by the United States Library of Congress and distributed by the Denver Public library for the Rocky Mountain region.

The name of Liberia, Negro republic in Africa, was suggested in 1824 by Robert G. Harper of Baltimore.

Will Marry One That He Misses Most

Dear Miss Fairfax:

The boy I'm in love with is in the Armed Forces. He's 21 years old. Just before he left he told me that he was debating whether he loved me more than another girl he knows. While he's away he is going to see which one he misses the most. And the winner will be his wife. I surely do admire him for his frankness, but if the other girl gets him, I think I'll die.

I've admired this young man ever since I've known him, and although I'm only 17 I hope some day to marry him. Please tell me what to do.

Unhappy.

Don't you think this young man is assuming a rather high hand. At the divine age of 17, one is apt to be more in love with love than with a young man who makes such arbitrary decisions.

You say you admire his frankness, but really now how would you like to go through life with such unreserved candor? At 21, the young man's age, we're all apt to believe we hold a first mortgage on the world and the art of living. Grim reality takes care of that. When he comes home from the war, he'll be less apt to hand out such a line. In the meantime, considering you're not engaged to him, enjoy your youth.

Will Tell Him Everything Later.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a boy of 21 in love with a girl of 20, and we hope to become engaged very soon. A few weeks ago she visited her unmarried sister in another city and went out with a young man she met. When she left, he gave her his class ring to wear, and now is writing her love letters which I happened to see. When I asked her about it, she said she would tell me about it later and that this boy didn't mean a thing to her.

I know she loves me and can't understand why she lets this other boy write her love letters. She tells me she doesn't write anything but friendly notes.

Undecided.

Why not have faith in your girl friend? She says she loves you. Since you aren't really engaged, each one of you has the right to go out with others.

* * *

Hands-Off Policy Suggested.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A year and a half ago my only daughter ran away and got married. We had given her practically everything she wanted. I was terribly upset, and my husband took it very hard.

She had a wonderful position and was on the brink of a business career: although her firm wanted her back, she wouldn't return.

Three months ago they had a baby girl. They live in a nearby town, and it seems she never gets a chance to write. Although she used to confide in me, now she tells me nothing. They're both very lazy and I shudder to think what that child will be when she grows up.

Her husband is in the Air Force and I've just lost contact with my daughter. I've tried to tell her at different times how to systematize her work, but she listens to no one but her husband: he has her "under his thumb." We've found out he lies to her. We will appreciate any suggestion.

W. H. K.

Nothing is harder for a parent than to stand on the side-lines and see a beloved child make what seems to be grave mistakes. But a hands-off policy is the better part of parental wisdom. When your daughter has made enough mistakes she'll be glad enough to come to you. Meanwhile, these young folks are still practically enjoying a honeymoon, at a time at which no one seems gifted with hard, practical common-sense. Try to be patient.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, November 26.

A PARTICULARLY active and enterprising day, in which much pleasant planning and promoting is likely to be expended in the pursuit of enjoyment rather than in workaday matters, is noted in the stellar auguries. It is a time for the young and for their seniors to devote to parties, athletics, sports and games, which is just as well since there are signs of trying and adverse business conditions to be shrewdly managed by strategy or undercover agreements. Refrain from reckless, high-pressure activities.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much initiative and enterprise, in which new and bold projects are likely to get off to a good start and aggressively, although backed up by a degree of sound consideration and well-directed application. In whatever field this attack is made it should be well organized and safeguarded against rash "spurts," impetuous and nervous explosions, or over enthusiasms or ardor.

A child born on this day should be gifted with skill, initiative and enterprise backed up by some sound principles, but a tendency to reckless, stubbornness, self-will and squandering of nervous energy may nullify strenuous efforts.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT SUIT IS BIDDABLE?

Skillful showing of four-card suit lengths is the soul of fine bidding, especially four-card majors. Some of the best players won't show a four-card major on the first round of bidding, but they most certainly do it later when they have the hands that justify it. You will find the very best of them frequently bidding such suits which are headed by any card as good as the jack, when they have partners who won't support them with only three cards. Thus they score many otherwise impossible games.

	♠ J 4 ♥ J 10 9 ♦ A 9 7 ♣ J 9 8 3 2
♠ K 9 5 2 ♥ K 6 ♦ Q J 8 6 ♣ Q 10 4	N W E S	♠ A 7 6 2 ♥ Q 8 7 5 2 ♦ 4 ♣ A K 7
	♠ Q 10 8 ♥ A 4 3 ♦ K 10 5 3 2 ♣ 6 5

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
2. Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	4 ♠
3. Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

Only two pairs out of nine tables got into 4-Spades on this deal in a social duplicate, their bidding being as under 1 and 2 above. In the first case East was anxious to show his exact relative suit lengths in the two majors. In the second East wanted to make it cheap to bid hearts second instead of showing great strength with a reverse, as he would have to do if West answered hearts with 1-No Trump. Those two pairs, of course, made spade games, losing one trick in each suit except clubs.

The number 3 bidding is only one of various sequences by pairs which refused to bid such spade suits as East and West held. They all played at 3-No Trumps, and all were set, the defenders usually taking two hearts, two diamonds and a spade.

If you are unwilling to bid a four-card suit containing a single honor, and you have a partner who feels the same way about it, then reconcile yourself to never making any of the games like this one, which are quite frequently produced by the shuffle and deal.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ A Q 7 3 ♥ Q 8 4 3 ♦ 10 8 ♣ K Q 9
♠ 9 4 ♥ K J 10 5 ♦ 7 2 ♣ A 8 6 3 2	N W E S	♠ 6 2 ♥ 9 ♦ A Q J 9 5 4 ♣ J 7 5 4
	♠ K J 10 8 5 ♥ A 7 6 2 ♦ K 6 3 ♣ 10

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

What bidding would you recommend, for all concerned, on this deal?

CHAPTER XXV

They landed at Las Vegas at 12:30 a. m. Despite the sable jacket, Livia shivered in the cold night air. It would soon be over and she would be Mrs. Charles Fordyce, number 5. As she said the name and the number to herself she knew it must not be.

* * *

There was a car waiting to drive them to the justice of the peace. Charles knew him. He had officiated at his last two weddings. He told this to Livia with an apologetic grin—and stopped suddenly at the distaste on her face.

"Charles—" Livia began after the short pause.

He knew what she wanted to say, but he was damned if he'd make it easy for her.

"Charles, are you sure you want to marry me?" she said timidly.

"Of course," he replied. She cleared her throat, and he waited coldly and cruelly. Damn her, he thought. She was going to marry him now regardless of her girlish scruples. Women did not leave Charles Fordyce waiting at the church. It was her idea to be married. He would have dispensed with that formality.

"I'm going back to Los Angeles," she told him, trying to keep her voice firm.

"Of course—after we're married," he said.

"I mean now."

They were driving swiftly toward a house on the outskirts of the town. He stopped the car.

"You mean later?"

"I mean now," Livia sat up rigidly.

"No," said Charles. She suddenly crumpled.

"I'm sorry. This is awful. I know, but I can't marry you. I'm sorry. I—please take me back to Los Angeles." She was hysterical. Charles shook his head.

"If you would act for the screen as well as you're doing now, I really could make a star of you," he said cruelly.

"Okay, we'll get married," she said abruptly. "Why not?"

"You make it sound like a prison sentence," said Charles.

He turned the car and headed back for the airport. He laughed suddenly.

"I'm sorry," said Livia lamely.

"Think nothing of it," he said lightly. But at this moment he hated her.

They were at the airport now. Charles cut short the pilot's congratulations.

"Miss Clarkson changed her mind," he said briefly.

At the Los Angeles airport were some morning papers which referred to Livia as Mrs. Fordyce and printed pictures of their departure for Las Vegas. A columnist had a story that Charles and Livia were to be a new film team.

Now she had no claim on Fordyce and once more was out of a job and on her own. Hollywood seemed more firmly closed than at any time before. Charles seemed to read her thoughts. He said:

"This does not necessarily interfere with our business agreement. You could still be under personal contract to me."

"No, that's impossible now."

"We'll talk of that later," he said with more kindness. They were both tired, "Where shall I drive you?"

"I'll go to my sister's she said miserably.

Livia had wondered why she had not married Fordyce. And she was glad when Vera, her married sister, asked no questions and made up a bed for her on the living-room soft.

She slept until noon.

Several people were annoyed that Livia had not married Fordyce. There was Countess Saskia, who believed that Bruce would finally capitulate to her charms when Livia married. And there was Terry Davidson, who was waiting until the marriage was accomplished to make a bigger touch "on behalf of your father."

* * *

But two people were glad. Alice Delaware — although she now hated Fordyce only a little less than Livia. And Bruce, emerging from a fog of alcohol, was so happy that he emptied in the kitchen sink the Scotch he was about to pour down his throat. Then he telephoned Countess Saskia.

"You need not release my picture——I'm through as a producer."

"That's interesting," she cooed. "And what do you intend doing for money?"

"It's none of your business. But I'll tell you anyway—I'm going back to stunting which I find less dangerous than working for a woman of your type.

She was frightened. "Bruce, I was joking about not releasing our picture. Of course, it's to be released. I've made all arrangements."

"Then send my share to a home for cats," he said and put the receiver down. He stood under the cold shower for ten minutes, then called Livia. She was not at her apartment. He telephoned Vera, and Livia answered.

"I'm seeing Charles for dinner," she said when he asked to see her.

"Then the marriage is only postponed?"

"Oh, no," she answered vehemently, "This has to do with a job."

"I see."

"How about later?" Livia asked.

"All right—later then."

To see Bruce and perhaps get back to their old friendly status made her happy again.

Vera and her husband George, a race-track follower, whose record was being investigated by the police, were to leave the United States at the end of the week.

"What about the baby?" Livia asked Vera. "Let me keep her."

Vera thought she was joking.

"How about your movie career?"

"My career doesn't seem very important now."

"Well, maybe, until we get settled," Vera promised.

* * *

Livia and Charles dined at Chasen's. Magnificent Pictures Corporation had offered him the biggest film of the year. "Honoria Lewis" had sold a million copies, and the sales were still mounting. Magnificent Pictures paid $200,000 for the rights to film the book.

"I'll do it," Charles told the company executives, "on one condition."

"Yes?" said Chairman Ronald Dunne.

"That I choose my own cast."

The chairman relaxed.

"Oh, is that all?" He puffed on his long cigar. "Who d'ye want?"

Fordyce mentioned the most popular male star in films. The executives nodded approvingly.

"And for the woman lead?"

Charles paused, and they waited expectantly.

"Livia Clarkson." It was as though he had dropped a bomb.

"We were thinking of Alice Delaware," said Dunne, breaking the uncomfortable silence. "In fact, I more or less promised Schneider we would give her the lead. He's investing in the picture. Or didn't you know?" Charles picked up his hat and cane.

"Gentlemen — good day," he said. He knew the men he had to deal with. And he knew that for once, the director of "Honoria Lewis" was more important to its success than any or all of the other combinations. This was a story crying aloud for his sensitive type of direction.

Dunne pulled him back into the room. He argued with him for two hours. But the sole concession made by Fordyce was to turn over his contract with Livia to the studio. She was to receive $250 a week. He asked for more, but Dunne said.

"For heaven's sake, Fordyce. She's unknown, and we're taking a big chance on her."

In telling Livia most of what had happened, Charles said, "I must have softening of the brain."

"It just isn't true," Livia repeated. "Why should you do this for me—after last night?"

He smiled. "If the picture's a success, will you marry me then?"

"Is that a condition?"

"Lord, no. Look—I'm not a bad sort of guy."

"I know—but in Hollywood everything has its price tag."

"Forget what I said. I was joking."

Was he joking? Livia didn't know, but was content to leave it at that.

She left him early and went to Bruce's bungalow with wonderful news. He, too, had some news.

"I'm in the stunt business again," Bruce said quietly when Livia had removed her hat and coat.

"I'm glad."

"You're glad! Say, I can put in a word for you with my new bosses." Livia had not yet told him about the future, "Honoria Lewis."

A smile parted her lips.

"You're prettier than ever," he touched her flaming hair softly and pulled her down on the settee. She lifted the hair away from her face and lay back in his arms. It was good to be with Bruce again.

"What does Saskia—say—about your stunt job?" she asked mischievously.

"Let's make a pact," he said, "I won't mention the name of Charles Fordyce—if you forget about Saskia." She shifted uneasily.

"I'm 'Honoria Lewis', and he's directing it." Bruce released her and stood up.

"That's interesting," he said finally, "I'm doubling for your leading man—my new job. I was going to tell you."

"Bruce, how wonderful!" she rose and flung her arms around his neck. He kissed her eager lips, and then put her from him.

"I'm not so sure. But from now on"—he grinned—"It's every man for himself."

"And every woman," said Livia coming close to him.

He kissed her again. This was what she wanted—this was what any woman wanted—a man for all eternity.

"I wish we were married," she said pensively.

"If it weren't for the picture?"

"Yes."

He wanted to say, "If the picture fails, will you marry me?" But that was not how he wanted her. She had to come to him without any conditions. She still had a lot to learn. She still had to find the key to what was good and what was false. This picture would prove the stuff of which she was made. It would be interesting to see how she came through—if she came through.

"Come on—I'll take you home," Bruce perched her hat atop her locks. She did not want to go.

"Still all or nothing, Bruce?"

"I guess so."

"You're the most difficult man to break down." He grinned.

"Come on, Cinderella, it's 12 o'clock." Only the night before Charles had called her Cinderella. The word troubled her. Was she a Cinderella? Was everything to vanish at 12? She clung to Bruce.

He kissed her gently and took her outside to his car.

Vera and her husband George left for Mexico, leaving their baby with Livia. That complicated matters somewhat, according to the publicity head of Magnificent Pictures. Being a star had several complications.

"The baby looks like you," he grumbled when Livia showed him a picture of the smiling youngster. "And you can't live alone," he informed her flatly.

Charles was shooting exterior scenes in the Florida Keys. Bruce and the technical staff were with him. They would be gone three weeks. And with Vera and George away, Livia was lonely. But there was much to do before she started the film, and publicity boss Samuels planned to use the interval relentlessly.

"You can't live alone," Samuels repeated. "D'ye know of an older woman to live with you?"

"I'd sooner live alone," said Livia obstinately. He sighed impatiently.

"No." Until an actress made a hit in pictures, she could be kicked around by the publicity department. Livia knew this. She thought of complaining to Fordyce when he next called. But no—she must follow the rules of the game. Later, you could say, "I will live alone," and dress in slacks and wear no make-up in public. But while you were on the down end of the film see-saw, you had to jump with the machine.

"There's only one older woman I know," Livia said hesitantly, "Mrs. Sayles—she runs the Hollywood House." Samuels knew her.

"Swell," he said, "From now on you're her niece."

"Perhaps she won't want to come?"

"We'll take care of that."

Samuels rented a small house in Beverly Hills for Livia and her new guardian. The rent was $350 a month.

"I can't afford it," Livia told him. She recalled the financial disaster when she had tried to buy her way to Hollywood attention.

"The studio pays for it—until your option is renewed," Samuels said in a bored voice.

The house was on two floors. It had a large white living room with white and green covered furniture. There was a large fireplace at one end and a big white piano at the other. A small dining room adjoined the large kitchen. Upstairs were three bedrooms and two bathrooms. The garden had been made into a swimming pool by the last occupant. But there was room for a thin border of flowers. The large patio had white garden tables and comfortable green and yellow padded chairs.

"Okay?" Samuels asked Livia perfunctorily. They were standing in her bedroom, luxurious with green drapes, a thick green carpet, and a wide low bed with a deep yellow cover.

"Okay," she laughed. And Mrs. Sayles echoed the laugh. "Just try to get me to the studio."

Producer Dunne and his satellites decided that Livia's red-gold hair must be touched up for the Technicolor film.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I DON'T NEED to know anything about him," Georges replied, and I wondered if I only imagined that there was evasion in his voice, and a trace of sullkiness.

"Any real man would know he was a bounder or worse," he said, "and I was greatly surprised and disappointed to see Mary trying so hard to pretend she was enjoying his company.

"There could be only two reasons for her appearance with him in a public place like that," he went on dictatorically. "Either she is infatuated with him, or she is so unhappy with Noel that she is snatching at any chance to forget her dolor. I believe that is the true answer, for I am sure I detected her loathing of Redfield."

"Suppose I should tell you, Georges," I said slowly, "that neither of your premises is correct."

"What do you mean?" he asked, looking at me keenly.

"I can't tell you much about it now," I said, 'but I can assure you of two things. First, Mary loathes Stephen Redfield, and is only going out with him in order to learn certain facts which my father needs. Second, she is not unhappy with Noel. He is devoted to her and she to him. The only flaw in their happines is Noel's jealousy of her."

I may have imagined there was a flicker of disappointment in his eyes, when I spoke of Mary's devotion to Noel, and I was alarmed. For I saw dangerous shoals ahead if Georges came back into Mary's life.

Bethrothal's Broken.

At the end of that romantic summer, when Mary came back to Noel and Georges and Olina told us of their betrothal, I believed there was no "mental reservations" in their announced new ties, and time had proved Noel's and Mary's mutual devotion.

But the betrothal of Olina and Georges had been broken off before her tragic exile and return to this country, and for a long while after that she had made both Mary's life and Noel's miserable by her predatory attitude toward Philip Veritzen's son.

The great impresario himself had settled that question after his own marriage to Olina's mother, and in the hectic time that followed I began to wonder whether the girl ever had cared for Noel, or had tried to take him from Mary only in retaliation for what she considered Mary's theft of Georges' affections.

I now recalled the tender, exultant note in Olina's voice, and the gladness in her face, when I told her I believed Georges was in America and had sent her the fan letter and the drawing of The Larches.

Olina loved Georges, I was sure of that. But that Georges loved her in return I much doubted, and I began to feel increasingly uneasy as he spoke of Noel's jealousy.

"To do Noel justice, he can't help that," he said. "If I had married Mary, I would have veiled her and shut her away from all admiring eyes save mine."

Home Duties For Mothers Not Working

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

ON SEVERAL occasions we have discussed mothers who work away from home and their growing children. Not a word to the mother who does not work, whose entire family can eat one or two meals a day together.

Have you ever thought what it must mean to a working mother to wonder all day at work whether her child is safe from physical and moral harm? Have you ever imagined how it would be to come home all worn out every evening to do another day's work there, and still try to be a good companion to the rest of the family? Have you ever considered what it would mean if your family rarely or never could have a meal together?

Pleasant Dinner Hour.

If you have a family whose program can run regularly, are you making the most of this privilege? Have your children learned to share in the home duties? Have they been disciplined to present themselves on time to meals without needless bother to others? Have you regulated the use of the radio to the advantage of all concerned? Have you cultivated a calm dinner hour where all members of your family share in quiet, though animated, conversation, each participating while considering the rights of others?

As never before, it seems to me that families ought to make the family dinner hour a pleasant and truly productive educational hour.

Those parents who have great opportunities to bring up their children well, but fail to do so, are hardly making a very patriotic contribution to their country. The larger our opportunities, the greater our obligations. In the long run, those parents with the greatest opportunities are most responsible for the citizenship or crime of their respective communities.

Lack of Discipline.

The tragedy of it is that so many parents of opportunity have embraced the doctrine so long and widely preached that children should not be restrained "lest their personalities be warped." It's the want of home discipline that, more often than not, has warped so many personalities and even tied them into knots. This war is going to bring a lot of disillusioned parents to their senses.

Mansfield football fans who have been watching the rivalry of two former Tyger gridders for the quarterback post on Ohio State's freshman team this fall were given little dope in Columbus papers with which to fan their interest.

Blocking backs don't make the headlines. They just clear the way for the stars to ramble. But there's no more important member of a Paul Brown backfield than the quarter, or blocking back, the position in which Mansfield's Johnny Hallabrin performed so creditably a year ago that he was selected to play in the North-South game.

From early autumn it became apparent that there were only two serious contenders for the blocking back job on the Buckeye frosh team, and both were from Mansfield: Bill Doolittle and Dave Templeton.

Templeton seemed to have a bit of an edge as practice went along, but the opening game of the freshman three-game schedule, with Pittsburgh, found Dave sidelined with a slight injury, and Doolittle got the nod. In the final game it was Templeton who started against Michigan.

In between time they shared the position as Ohio bumped off Indiana. But how well Dave and Bill were doing nobody knew, from reading the papers.

But the Columbus Dispatch discovered in the Ohio freshman 16 to 14 victory over Michigan that Dave Templeton was quite a football player. The Dispatch said:

"Whisler, Wolfe, Groza, Tommy Phillips, Tom Jeffries and a few others performed brilliantly Friday, but the fellow who really stole the show was Dave Templeton, blocking quarterback from Mansfield. The big fellow tossed key blocks on both of Whisler's touchdowns, added others on most of the substantial gaining plays, and played a whale of a defensive game in backing up the line."

* * *

Here's a bit of balm for Tyger grid fans still bemoaning the late lamented grid campaign.

Mansfield high school is still the all-time champion of the North Central Ohio league, even though the Tygers haven't performed in that circuit for some years now.

Ashland Bill McKee, looking over the records, finds that Mansfield won the league championship outright six times, and tied for it three more times.

Next best record is owned by Galion with four clean cut titles, and ties for two more while Marion, ruler of the roost in recent seasons, is next with four championships and one tie.

Aside from Mt. Vernon, comparatively recent member of the league, Ashland has the poorest championship record with only one clear title and ties for two.

* * *

And don't forget what I told you before this season started. Watch Galion next year and in the next few years to come. Jimmy Lymper has developed a system of producing future football players for the Orangemen, a system that showed results this season, and which should do better next year when most of the present Orangemen will be back.

Lucas Opens With Victory

LUCAS — Lucas high school opened its basketball season last night with a thrilling 25-24 victory over Butler's Bulldogs won in the last 10 seconds of play on Hammett's free toss.

* * *

Lucas led all the way until the final half-minute when Butler tied the score. It was not a league game.

* * *

Butler, after getting away to a poor start, came up steadily and made a real bid for the game in the last quarter. Lucas led at the first quarter 13-2, at the half 15-8 and at the third quarter 23-14.

Kaylor led the winners with 11 points.

Ohio Grid Lid Falls Thursday

High Schools Complete Season on Holiday.

By JOHN COLBURN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio high schools wind up tomorrow a 1942 football season that saw the fall of Massillon's seven-year reign as state champions.

There were four claimants for the crown with at least three other schools having a legitimate bid.

Canton McKinley, which handed Massillon its second defeat in 95 games, Steubenville, Toledo Libbey and Dayton Oakwood sought recognition as 1942 state champion. Eligible also were Defiance, Dover and Xenia Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans Home.

The powerful Xenia team has the best record of the seven, being undefeated in 28 games. Libbey has not lost a game in 18 contests. Defiance has won ten straight, Dover nine and Oakwood eight. Steubenville is once defeated—by Massillon—and Canton lost to Steubenville and was tied by Canton Lincoln.

While the scramble of state championship claims started, the Associated Press this week mailed out ballots for nominations for its all-Ohio scholastic teams. The Associated Press squads have been endorsed by high school coaches as official for the state. The selections will be announced early next month.

Undefeated Dover and Oakwood put their clean slates on the block in Thanksgiving day games.

Dover meets its Twin City rival, New Philadelphia, and new fuel already has been added to the customary rivalry.

New Philly contended that Dan Petrella, star Dover fullback was 21 and ineligible to play, but was overruled by H. R. Townsend, state athletic commissioner. So Petrella will help Dover try to annex its tenth straight.

* * *

One of the oldest scholastic Thanksgiving day rivalries is renewed at Wellsville when the Bengals entertain their foe of the last 39 years, East Liverpool.

Besides Massillon's downfall, last Saturdays results gave Youngstown Woodrow Wilson a 25 to 0 win over Ursuline and Wilson's first city title. Wilson has won eight and been tied once this year.

Ironton and Portsmouth high schools provided a tip-off for what many Ohio high schools will have to do in arranging their 1943 football schedules. These schools will play each other twice instead of risking transportation difficulties.

FARMER MOVED

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(INS)—Tommy Farmer passing ace, was working out in the left halfback spot today in an Iowa Hawkeye backfield shift that moved Jim Youell to quarterback and Duke Curran to right half. The shift was announced by Coach Eddie Anderson as a move to capitalize on Farmer's improved running. When the Hawkeyes meet Michigan Saturday at Urban may be in John Staak's tackle berth in the Iowa lineup.

MACK READY TO SET PACE IN TRADING

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The venerable Connie Mack today was reported ready to set the trading pace at the major league meeting in Chicago next week in a deal which would see Outfielder Bob Johnson and First Baseman Dick Siebert go to the White Sox for First Baseman Joe Kuhel and Second Baseman Don Kolloway.

Both Johnson and Siebert were holdouts last spring and Johnson, disappointed at his earnings last season, has declared he would rather not return to Shibe park. His batting average was .290 and for the first time in eight years he failed to drive in 100 or more runs. Siebert's average was .260.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK — (AP) — Now that it's no longer a military secret, Bob McCarty of St. Martin's college at Lacey, Wash., feels he can tell the public about the "naval battle" Nov. 14 between the St. Martin's Rangers and the Eastern Washington Savages . . . Seems there was a "high fog" that day and the field was covered with water, sometimes five and six inches deep. . . . The chalk lines were only a vague memory; the subs and coaches retired to the covered grandstand and, when a team went back into a huddle, the referee had to hold the ball so it wouldn't float away . . . "Oh, yes," Bob oh esses, "St. Martin's won 6-0."

* * *

Lieut. Commander Clement Boyd of the naval cadet selection board figures that sports writers who have reported the doings of the pre-flight football teams have helped considerably to stimulate interest in naval aviation, which needs 30,000 pilots this year. . . . And how about the guys playing on those teams?

* * *

A new story on why the Dodgers fired Chuck Dressen is that Chuck has been outspoken about being anything but fond of Branch Rickey. . . . The idea of having midshipmen substitute for the absent Army cheering section at the Army-Navy game isn't exactly new in military circles. For years West Point and Canada's Royal Military academy have furnished rooters for the visiting team in their hockey series . . . The fight mob has decided that Henry Armstrong would have trouble making the lightweight limit again so now it looks as if Henry's return to Madison Square Garden will be against Bummy Davis late in January.

JUNIOR Y. M. C. A. CAGE QUINTET ORGANIZED

A junior Y. M. C. A. basketball team has been organized at the Mansfield "Y" and games already have been booked with Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson Junior high schools, and the Mansfield high school reserves, Physical Director John Fike announced today. Games are wanted with other schools in this vicinity.

Organization of the church basketball league was completed last night with nine teams in the league which will open play Dec. 8.

Loop Leaders Unchanged

Transportation League Honors Go to Ed Miller.

Standings of the Transportation bowling league were undisturbed last night as each of the three top teams scored 2-1 wins at Colony alleys.

Ed Miller made a clean sweep of scoring honors, turning in high total of 628 and high game of 227.

Takes Guess On Winners

End of Season Brings Sigh of Relief.

By HERB BARKER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Taking one last whirl at the football guessing game and breathing a huge sigh of relief that it's all over for another year (or more):

Thanksgiving Day.

Cornell-Penn: Penn has dropped its last two starts while Cornell has won its last two. Stubbornly, Penn.

Kansas-Missouri: The Tigers should be plenty good enough to retain the Big Six crown. Missouri.

Arkansas-Tulsa: The Razorbacks are the last obstacle blocking an unbeaten, untied season for Tulsa. We'll take Tulsa.

Louisiana State-Tulane: Both are spotty. Guessing, Tulane.

Texas A. & M.-Texas: Nothing is sure in the Southwest conference. Tossing the coin . . . Texas.

William & Mary-Richmond: This should clinch the Southern conference title for William & Mary.

Great Lakes-Northwestern: Doubt that Northwestern can whip itself up for this anti-climax. Great Lakes.

Saturday, Nov. 28.

Army-Navy: The better record belongs to Army if that means anything and it seldom does in this rivalry. The vote goes to Army.

Georgia Tech-Georgia: This is the perfect set-up for Georgia to come raging back, but—Georgia Tech.

Holy Cross-Boston College: Off the records, we'll string along with Boston college.

Iowa Navy-Ohio State: This ballot for Iowa Navy Pre-Flight is predicated on the possibly false assumption that the season ended for Ohio State last week when the Buckeyes crushed Michigan.

Notre Dame-Southern California: Hesitantly, Notre Dame.

Georgia Navy-Alabama. Tough enough. Sheer guessing, Georgia Navy.

Iowa-Michigan: One vote for Michigan.

North Carolina Naval-Fordham: N. C. Navy.

Vanderbilt-Tennessee: Tennessee.

Baylor-Rice: Out of the hat . . . Rice.

Clemson-Auburn: Taking Auburn.

Texas Christian-Southern Methodist: Fog . . . T. C. U.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Indiana over Fort Knox; Illinois over Camp Grant; Miami over West Virginia.

NEW HAVEN EAGLES WIN SECOND GAME

NEW HAVEN — (U.P.) — The New Haven Eagles, last-place club in the eastern division of the American Hockey league, scored their second victory in 11 starts Tuesday night by shading the Indianapolis Caps, 3-2, in the only game scheduled.

The Eagles blew a two-goal lead in the second period when goals by Adam Brown and Charlie Fisher gained the Caps a 2-2 tie but Frank Waldrift's goal at 16:14 of the final session on passes from Frank McManus and Bill Smith won the game for New Haven.

Old Rivalries Dot Program

Traditional Turkey Day Grid Games Scheduled.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Nine Ohio colleges conclude their football seasons tomorrow with only Miami having an opportunity to do much in the way of an upset.

Except for Miami's meeting with Cincinnati, there is nothing at stake in four other games except the prestige that goes to the victor with a win over a traditional Thanksgiving day foe.

Miami can hand Cincinnati its first defeat of the season by an Ohio team, but on the record the Redskins don't appear to have much of a chance.

* * *

Miami has won only three of its eight games, while Cincinnati has won seven and lost only to Georgia and Tennessee.

Ohio University and Dayton collide in Dayton. Each has lost only two games, but Dayton has won seven and Ohio U. five. Two morning games are on northern Ohio's turkey day menu.

John Carroll shouldn't have any trouble taking into camp the hapless Akron Zippers, who have lost seven games and tied one. Carroll has three victories, two ties and two defeats. They meet in Akron's Rubber bowl.

At Cleveland, Case and Western Reserve get together in their traditional struggle that Reserve was favored to win easily until it was upset last week by Ohio Wesleyan.

Wilberforce tackles West Virginia State college at Detroit.

CAGE SEASON OPENS

ANDERSON, Ind—(AP)—Anderson college defeated Giffin college of Van Wert, O., 29 to 17, in a basketball game last night. At Angola, Ind., Defiance college trimmed Tri-State, 39 to 36.

WEDS, JOINS ARMY

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Al Leach, 31-year-old Cleveland golfer who won the 1938 national public links championship, is headed for the army next week, but he's going to be married first. He announced that he and Miss Lucille Otto of Cleveland would wed tomorrow.

It's friendly to SHARE A QUART ..and Socially correct!

It's a growing fashion to ask for the full-quart SCHLITZ GUEST BOTTLE. Sharing a quart is such a friendly, American way! Same Schlitz as in the familiar 12-ounce bottle—but the SCHLITZ GUEST BOTTLE contains almost three times as much. Convenient for serving—easy to carry—fits nicely into the refrigerator.

Just the KISS of the hops... NONE OF THE BITTERNESS!

Once you taste America's most distinguished brew, you'll always want that famous flavor found only in Schlitz.

In 12-oz. bottles and Quart Guest Bottles. On tap, too!

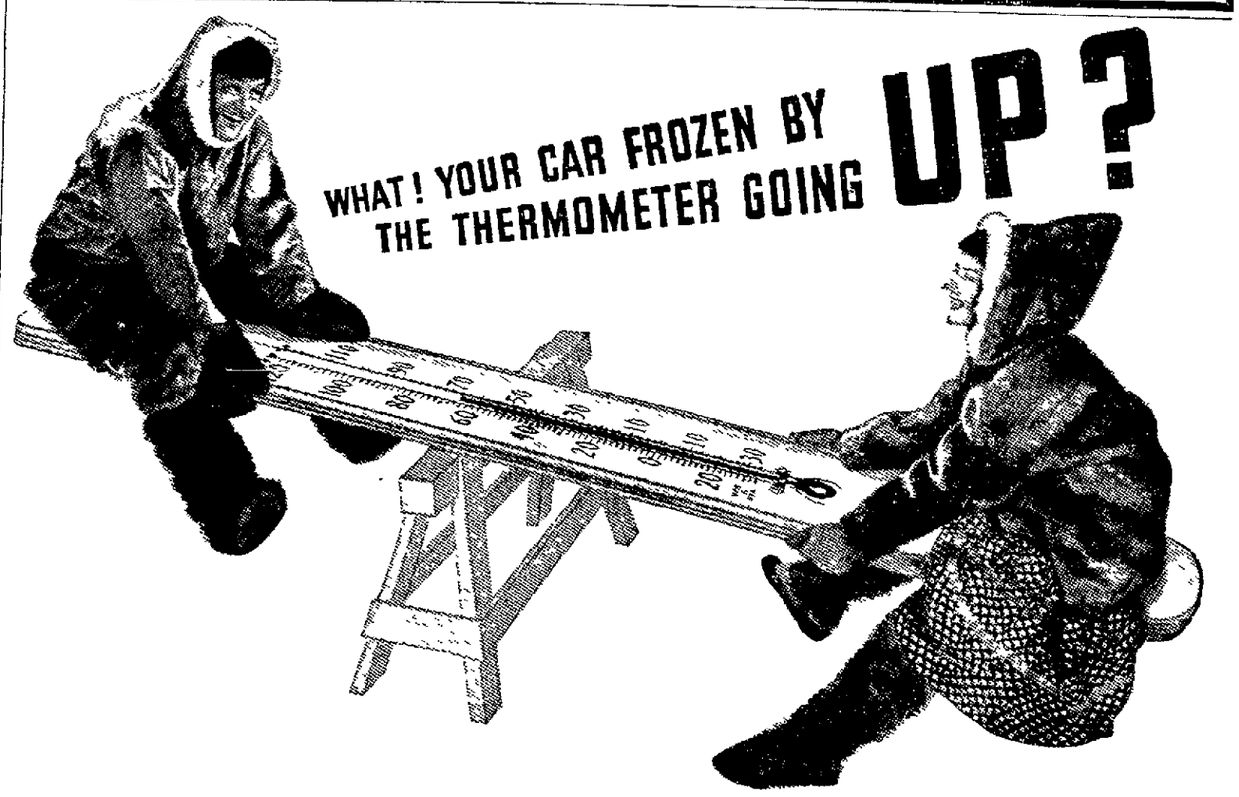
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS



OH SURE, any anti-freeze chart can tell you how much you need when the thermometer's down. But how much will be left after the thermometer's gone UP?

With your correct fill of Super Pyro anti-freeze put in now, you've got every fair assurance that plenty of Super Pyro will stay put—despite Old Man Winter's ups and downs.

Today's weather or tomorrow's may soar 10 degrees or 20 degrees warmer. And every day, in regular stride, your engine will get at least 160 degrees hot or even hotter. Climbing a hill or idling at a standstill may mean still higher heat. But even so—unless you almost tried to do it on purpose—you'd have quite a time boiling away too much of your Super Pyro.

Here's anti-freeze made to live through any likely high heat, so that your car can live through the cold. You can't get a new car at any price, can you? So get all the safety of anti-rust Super Pyro anti-freeze right now . . . at an anti-luxury price.

Bradley Fears Wolf Chorus

Doesn't Want Players' Patriotism Doubted.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians expressed doubt today that fans want wartime baseball and declared that he "would rather not open" the ball park next spring if he thought the "wolves" would rade his players for not being in the military service.

"I would rather not open the ball park next spring than go out there and hear the wolves yelling, 'why aren't you in the army, you big lug?'" Bradley asserted.

"The members of the Indians will have a very good reason for not being in the army," he added. "They'll have wives and children to support.

* * *

"But I want to know whether the public will accept that as a valid reason."

Bradley said he wanted "an expression from the fans" to take along to the major leagues' midwinter meeting in Chicago next week.

Discussing his club's prospects for next season—if there is one—Bradley said, "the men who will be playing ball next year are married men with children. The others have all gone into the service or will have gone before the season opens.

"For my part, I don't want any men on my club who aren't heads of families."

HORNE COPS NOD

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(AP)—Although staggered several times by rights to the chin, Sonny Horne, Niles, O., middleweight, won a six-round decision from Jerry La Starza of New York last night. It was Horne's 28th victory in 30 professional bouts. Horne weighed 160½, La Starza 161¾.

SECRET DRILLS

ANNAPOLIS — (NS) — Secret practice was the order of the day for Navy's football squad. Commander John E. Welchel, head coach, made everyone show their credentials before getting on the practice field and said no one except players and coaches will be allowed through the lines until Saturday's game with the Army.

Detroit, Chicago Tie for Ice Lead

(By United Press)

Detroit and Chicago clinched into a two day deadlock for the first place in the national hockey league Tuesday night by tying with the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, respectively.

* * *

Detroit built up a four-goal lead over the Canadiens at Montreal. Carl Liscombe's marker at 1:16 of the fourth apparently sewing it up. But the Canadiens cut loose for three goals in five minutes—Toe Blake, Joe Benoit and Ray Getliffe tallying—and tied it up at 16:30 when Gordon Drillon shoved a score past the recumbent Detroit goalie, Johnny Mowers.

* * *

The Bruins put on a fierce fourth-period rally at Boston but could gain no more than a tie with Chicago their first of the season which also brought a halt to their four-game winning streak on home ice. Veteran Mush March drew scoring honors with tallies in the first two periods. Each club scored in every period, Murph Chamberlain gaining the tie for the Bruins by tallying at 3:38 of the last period on passes from Dit Clapper and Herbie Cain.

LEADS TIGERS

PRINCETON, N. J. — (NS) — George P. Kinniry, of Hartford, Conn., today was named captain of the Princeton team for the 1943 season. Kinniry played guard this season and probably will be graduated and in the service before the next football season rolls around.

FEAR AMBUSH

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(NS)—Fearing an ambush by the Camp Grant warriors, Coach Ray Eliot hunted for replacements today for Ray Florek and Steve Susic, who were dropped from school. Myron Pfeifer was the only available quarterback for Florek's post with Roy Hoppe a doubtful starter. Wes Tregoning was moved to Susic's right halfback post to alternate with Buck Cottell.

Semi-Pro Moguls Meet Next Week

CHICAGO —(NS)— Directors of the national semi-pro baseball congress will convene in Chicago next week to hold simultaneous meetings with major and minor leagues, Ray Dumont, president of the semi-pro congress, announced today.

Dumont indicated that future plans of semi-pro baseball will be decided by the outcome of the major and minor league sessions. In discussing baseball prospects, Dumont said:

"It is our hope and belief that minor league baseball will be able to survive the war period. However if most of the leagues are unable to operate in 1943, the semi-pros are increasing the scope of the national program so as to permit the professionels to continue playing."

Buckeyes Work on Defense for Navy

COLUMBUS —(NS)— Ohio State university's Western conference football champs worked today to set up a defense for the Iowa Seahawk offensive maneuvering in Ohio stadium Saturday. The Buckeyes also took a look at a few new offensive plans of attack of their own.

* * *

Tommy James, star substitute Buck halfback who suffered a shoulder separation in the Illinois game, continued to improve and Coach Paul Brown said there is a ray of hope that he may be used Saturday.

* * *

As things stack up now, the Iowa outfit has a definite mental edge over Ohio State and it was this factor that was worrying the Buckeye coaching staff more than anything else.

THEATERS

DeLuxe Musical.

The Ohio's deluxe Thanksgiving attraction, "You Were Never Lovelier," co-starring Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth, opens today at the Ohio. It will run through Saturday and be succeeded Sunday by Bette Davis and Paul Henreid in "Now, Voyager." Jerome Kern's music played by Xavier Cugat and his orchestra is one of the big attractions of the Astaire picture along with the flying feet of the dancer and his lithesome partner. Adolphe Menjou is also in the picture that is set in South America and concerns Astaire's efforts to recoup race track losses by obtaining a job.

Guerrilla Warfare.

"Manila Calling," the Madison attraction opening today, glorifies a handful of men and a girl stranded in a jungle clearing by the withdrawal from the Philippines of American armed forces. The contingent socked the enemy whenever able to do so through guerrilla tactics and maintained communications in the face of great odds. Lloyd Nolan and Carole Landis are the featured players and the cast includes James Gleason and Cornel Wilde. "Priorities On Parade," a musical show, is the co-feature. Ann Miller, Jerry Colonna and Vera Vague are in the cast.

Western Thriller.

Roy Rogers' starring picture "Romance on the Range," opening Thanksgiving day at the Park concerns the efforts of a ranch foreman to track down a gang of fur bandits who have been robbing the trappers at a certain trading post for years. Linda Hayes plays opposite Rogers as the girl who comes to the post incognito to help the rancher in the theft. Ann Corio, the former queen of burlesque, is teamed with Buster Crabbe, the Olympic swimming star in the second picture, "Jungle Siren," that has an African locale.

Rogers Starred.

"Heart of the Golden West," the Roy Rogers' starring vehicle opening Thursday at the Ritz, has Rogers in his familiar role of benefactor to his fellow men. He plays the part of a rancher who tries to protect his brother ranchers from becoming victim to unjust shipping charges and he runs into opposition when doing so. Smiley Burnette, Walter Catlett, Ruth Terry and Edmund MacDonald are among the players. Parkyarkarkus is featured in "A Yank in Libya," the second picture with Walter Woolf King and Joan Woodbury.

LEGAL NOTICE

The unknown heirs of Henry C. Hedges whose names and addresses are unknown to plaintiff will take notice that on the 18th day of Nov. 1941, the Home Materials Company filed its certain petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Richland County, Ohio, and numbered on the docket of said court as cause No. 26180 and that said unknown heirs were made parties defendant therein.

That said petition avers that certain real estate was conveyed to said plaintiff by deed recorded Richland County Deed Records, Volumes 139, Page 68, which said deed contained the following description, to-wit:

Situate in the State of Ohio, County of Richland and City of Mansfield, and known as Lot Number Twenty-two (22) Auditors Plat, being a part of the northwest quarter section twenty-two (22) township twenty-one (21), range eighteen (18), commencing at the intersection of the south line of Orange Street with the west line of Newman Street, thence west along the south line of Orange Street four hundred and thirty-three feet (433) thence south one hundred and eighty-seven feet (187 ft.) to the right of way of a switch track of the Pennsylvania Ft. Wayne and Chicago R. R. running into the Eclipse Stove Works, thence east with the north line of said switch four hundred and forty feet (440) to the west line of Newman Street thence north on the west line of Newman Street two hundred and seventy-three feet 273 ft.) to the place of beginning, containing two and fifty-seven one-hundredths acres (2 57/100).

That said real estate had been conveyed by the said Henry C. Hedges then in full life to plaintiff's immediate grantor by deed recorded Richland County Deed Records Volume 137, Page 281. That the description in the deed from the said Hedges was identical with the description herein above given.

Said petition avers that each of said descriptions are incorrect. Plaintiff among other things prays that said incorrect description may be corrected, so that the same when corrected will read as follows:

Situate in the State of Ohio, County of Richland and City of Mansfield and known as Lot Number Twenty-two (22) Auditors Plat, being a part of the northwest quarter section twenty-two (22) township twenty-one (21) range eighteen (10), commencing at the intersection of the south line of Orange Street with the west line of Newman Street, thence west along the south line of Orange Street four hundred and thirty-three (433) feet, thence south one hundred and eighty-seven (187) ft. to the right of way of a switch track of the Pennsylvania, Ft. Wayne and Chicago R. R., running into the Eclipse Stove Works; thence east with the north line of said switch four hundred and forty (110) feet to the west line of Newman Street; thence north on the west line of Newman Street two hundred and ninety-three (293) feet to the place of beginning, containing two and fifty-seven one-hundredths acres (2.57).

Said petition further prays that plaintiff's title may be quieted in and to said real estate as described in said corrected description.

The defendants will take notice that said cause will stand for hearing on and after the 28th day of Dec 1942.

ADDRESS .....

On Page 1 of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good. Just write three names on this blank each day.

$750.00 in awards go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers' think. Every week is a separate survey with a dozen or more cash awards each week.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week and there are many awards each week, but only one award for a good answer will go to any one family in any one week.

I THINK THESE ADS WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award.

The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKED some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with the awards . . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our merchants.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given to the merchants to help them to improve their advertisements BUT the merchants will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

PAM— The Tragedy of War. By A. W. Brewerton

IT'S EASY TO SEE WHY MR. WERNER DOESN'T WANT TO MINGLE MUCH WITH PEOPLE!
HE'S HAD ENOUGH TO MAKE A MAN BITTER, PAMELA OH, I DON'T THINK HE'S SO BITTER, COLONEL, AS-- CRUSHED, BEWILDERED! HIS WORLD WAS SWEPT AWAY SO QUICKLY!
11-25
AND YOU'RE PRETTY CERTAIN ALL THIS HE TOLD YOU WAS THE TRUTH? THAT...
IT WAS A MISTAKE, HIS LEAVING FRIENDLY SURROUNDINGS, COMING TO THE CITY, I GUESS
OH, YES, COLONEL, I JUST KNOW IT! YOU CAN'T TALK TO HIM WITHOUT KNOWING HE'S HONEST-- SINCERE!
THE TRAGEDY OF WAR! IT OUGHT TO MAKE US MORE CHARITABLE, KINDER, TO THOSE WITH WHOM WE COME IN CONTACT, PAMELA! MANY A POOR INNOCENT SOUL IS BEARING A LOAD OF GRIEF WE LITTLE SUSPECT!
YOU'RE RIGHT, COLONEL CAREY
I'VE GOT MY HANDS FULL, BUT AS OPPORTUNITY PRESENTS I SHALL DO ALL I CAN TO CHEER THAT POOR BROKEN-HEARTED OLD MAN!
AND WHAT INTEREST HER KINDNESS WAS TO PAY!
(Released by The Associated Newspapers) (Trade Mark Reg U. S. Pat. Office by A. W. Brewerton)

ANIMALS TAKE OVER VILLAGE

ILWACO, Wash. —(U.P.)— Wild life is making it tough for residents of this little seacoast town, now under strict war black-outs at night.

Bears wander around the outskirts of the town munching on apples and scaring late-prowling residents. Deer walk the main streets eating gardens and flowers indiscriminately.

The worst thing, however, is the presence of skunks. They wandered into the town's only picture theater and forced it to close down several days.

NARROW PRICE CHANGES MIXED ON STOCK MART

Retail Store Managements No Longer Concerned By Inventory Control.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Price changes were narrow and a bit mixed in today's early stock market dealings.

Among leaders showing fractional improvement at the opening were Pennsylvania, U. S. Rubber and Loew's. Eastman Kodak had a 1 point rise on the initial transaction. In minus territory were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Sperry and Consolidated Edison.

Holders of merchandising shares gained some comfort from the opinion widely expressed in business circles that store company managements no longer were greatly concerned over possible inventory control.

It was said that reduction of merchandise inventories at current peak prices promised for many companies better profits than in 1941 in spite of increased taxes.

Survivors Report Sinking of U. S. Ship In Atlantic.

AN EAST COAST PORT—(INS)—Sixteen men are missing from the crew of a United Nations vessel torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic late in September, survivors reaching this port revealed today.

Thirty-eight survivors managed to cling to debris after the ship went down so fast it was impossible to free the life boats. Later the men made their way to three life rafts and after two days and nights were picked up by a Norwegian vessel.

Pupil Collects 36,000 Pounds of Scrap; Will Launch Ship.

DENVER —(INS)— Harold Sheldon is only 10 years old and he is the only pupil at a Pioneer school in Logan county, Colo., but he was acclaimed today by salvage officials as the champion scrap collector of the state.

He contributed 36,085 pounds to the scrap heap. His reward for winning the state-wide school salvage contest will be a trip to the Pacific coast to launch a Liberty ship to be named by the school children of Colorado.

U. S. Pilots In Australia Are Medal Winners

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA —(INS)— Preparing and recommending decorations for U. S. pilots in the southwest Pacific area is the important task of a special section of Major-General George Kenney's personal air staff.

Headed by Major John Sullivan of Jamesburg, New Jersey, former principal of the New Jersey state home for boys, the decorations section has appraised and prepared more than 1,000 decorations and awards in this area since January 1st.

These include 175 Purple Hearts, 421 Silver Stars, 190 Distinguished Flying Crosses, 94 Distinguished Service Crosses, two Distinguished Service Medals, and one Navy Cross.

Several Congressional Medal of Honor awards are awaiting Washington approval.

With Kenney's approval, Sullivan can award Silver Stars and Purple Hearts at his discretion. Flying and Service Crosses, and higher awards must have the approval of General MacArthur as well as Washington endorsement.

The direct commander of an aircraft unit makes the first recommendation for a citation to Sullivan, who decides what award is deserved and, in turn, makes his recommendation to General Kenney.

If the award is in the top three brackets, General Charles Stivers, MacArthur's personnel officer, will decide the nature of the honor.

WOMEN'S BUY BOMBER BOND DRIVE SUCCESS

Report $175,000 Raised With $25,000 More to Start Fund For Second Plane.

by Capt. James R. Harrington, manager of Mansfield Municipal Airport, who spoke in behalf of America's flying ships and in refutation of statements that they are "not as good as those of the enemy." He disqualified the latter as enemy propaganda.

"Our medium bombers have no equal in the world today," said Harrington. "The B-26 is without question the finest, most successful medium bomber any country ever had. It is used by the Allies as well as ourselves." He pointed out that it was this type of ship that General Doolittle used when he flew over Tokyo.

The airport manager called attention to the fact that America's planes were first designed to protect our own shores and later were built for long range operations in high and low altitudes and varying kinds of climatic conditions.

He introduced a corps of 19 United States Naval Reserve officers, now in training at the airport, "as the type of men we're going to look to to fly our ships and deliver our supplies to all corners of the world." About half of the group are from Ohio and the others are from Michigan and scattered points.

Speaking as one who has personally seen "what the Prussian mailed fist could do at close range," Reilly spoke briefly on conditions in Poland. He said that he was in that country during the first World war and claimed that "what is going on there today surpasses anything that has gone before."

"In Hitler's hordes we have a counterpart of the Germany that swept everything before the Kaiser's army," said Reilly. He called attention to some of the "revolting situations" that have taken place in Poland since the country was occupied and said that these and many others are set down in black and white in a document whose verdict is sworn to by Polish people.

"It may be hard to reach down for another dollar when we've bought what we believe is our limit in bonds, the speaker pointed out, "but we must find it somehow to keep such situations from happening here."

Reilly was introduced by Paul Endriss, publicity chairman for the November bond drive, who also presented Miss McVitty.

Paul Eliot, chairman of the Richland county war bond committee, spoke regarding the "valiant attempt" made to reach the monthly quota in the county and pointed out that although $4,000,000 worth of bonds were sold in the county since Pearl Harbor, that this record doesn't compare with the county's record during the first world war when the population was considerably less than it is now.

He complimented the women's division on its success in reaching the goal as did Harrington and Reilly.

Miss McVitty sang a group of three waltzes on her first appearance. They included "I'm Falling In Love With Someone," by Victor Herbert, "I'll Take Romance," and "While Heart Strings Are Singing." The attractive young winner of General Electric's contest to find the outstanding singing co-ed in the country wore black taffeta made with a low decolletage trimmed with white lace studded with brilliants.

For her last group she sang, "Angels of Mercy," "America the Beautiful," and then led the audience in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." She was accompanied by Miss Thelma Reid, Mansfield pianist and teacher.

Other features of the evening were the sale of Victory corsages by a group of high school girls and an audience participation contest having as its prize a $25 war bond. The bond was won by Esther Smith of The News Journal staff.

A five-piece orchestra entertained prior to the rally.

8,000 SHIPS BRAVE STRAITS

LONDON—(AP)—The admiralty disclosed today that Britain had passed 3,000 freighters in convoy through the 20-mile-wide Strait of Dover in the last two years in the face of German bombers and fighters and powerful guns mounted on the French coast.

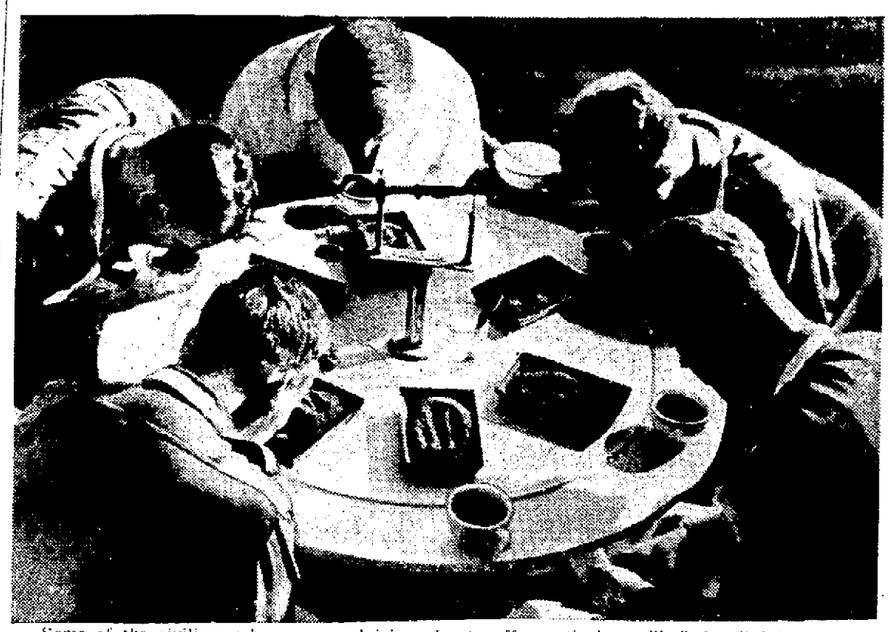
Don't Kick--the Soldiers Get That Coffee



Some of the civilians who are complaining about coffee rationing will find relief in the fact that the Army Quartermaster corps took steps to ration the beverage more than a year ago. This picture made in the Chicago Quartermaster depot, where 48,000 pounds of coffee is roasted daily for the army, shows tasters sitting about a table, sampling coffee. These officers have educated noses and palates. This is an official U. S. Army photo.

City Prepared for Wartime Observance of Thanksgiving

321 years ago— thanks for a country free from oppression and for a harvest of plenty.

Rev. J. Campbell White of the United Presbyterian church will speak at the union service for all downtown churches to be held in the First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. His subject will be, "Unusual and Challenging Reasons for Thanksgiving in America This Year."

At the same hour four congregations will unite in Park Avenue Baptist church to hear Rev. Glenn Lewis of Grace Episcopal church deliver a Thanksgiving sermon, Rev. Charles Sheriff and Rev. R. L. Foulke will assist in the service in which Grace Episcopal, Central Methodist, St. Matthews Lutheran and Park Avenue Baptist congregations will participate.

Hymns of thanksgiving will be heard on all programs. Edith Fletcher Jameson's choir will sing at the Baptist church and Roy Wervey will be at the organ.

The third union service will also be held at 7:30 p. m. in St. Paul's Lutheran church, where, following an annual custom of the past 10 years, St. Luke's church will unite for Thanksgiving worship. Rev. Herbert S. Garnes will deliver the sermon and Rev. H. L. Gilbert will conduct the liturgy.

Holy Communion will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. in Grace Episcopal church. Other Thursday services will be held at First Lutheran church at 9 a. m. and at First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 11 a. m.

Virtually all business will be suspended. City, county and federal offices will be closed as will banks, offices and other business establishments. Postoffice windows will be closed and only a skeleton force will be on hand to dispatch the mail and deliver "specials."

City and county schools were dismissed yesterday afternoon and students will not return to classes until Monday. Most of them held Thanksgiving programs prior to beginning the holiday vacation.

Mansfield industries working on war orders will not interrupt their schedule for the holiday. Factory workers will be on the job although office employes will be free to spend the day with their families. The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company will maintain 100 per cent production and both the Westinghouse and Mansfield Tire and Rubber company will maintain partial operations.

The Ohio Reformatory will suspend work and the inmates will participate in a special program and partake of a Thanksgiving menu headed by roast pork and dressing, candied sweet potatoes, mashed Irish potatoes, wax beans, celery, pumpkin pie and coffee.

Residents at the county jail, less than 20 of them, will feast on chicken, noodles, mashed potatoes and dressing, cranberries and the usual trimmings, topped with pumpkin pie.

The Thanksgiving dinner this year will be the costliest for the private citizen that America has known since 1929. Fowl, meats, vegetables and all foodstuffs have jumped on a combined average of 20 per cent since last year. But even with sugar and coffee rationing and high prices there is still a greater variety of food in this country than anywhere else on the face of the globe.

QUAKE REPORTED

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—The Tacubaya observatory reported today that a slight earthquake felt in Mexico City last night had its epicenter in the southwestern state of Oaxaca. The tremor was felt in the Mexican capital at 7:30 p. m.

DORIOT DEAD?

London Paper Says Pro-Axis Frenchman Dies of Wounds.

LONDON — (U.P.) — The London Evening Standard reported today that Jacques Doriot, the radical pro-Nazi French leader of Paris, has died, presumably of injuries suffered in a beating he received at the hands of a mob which attacked him about a week ago.

The Evening Standard Dispatch recalled that Doriot was reported to have been confined to a hospital after the attack and said that yesterday's broadcast by Doriot over the Axis radio probably was a recording.

"Doriot planned to oust Laval," the report added, "and rule France with a private army of 2,000 thugs enrolled from the streets of Paris."

Italians Say Torpedoes Get 4 Allied Merchant Ships.

Rome (from Italian broadcasts) —(AP)—The sinking of four Allied merchantmen, including a "Transatlantic ship of 20,000 tons" and a destroyer with torpedoes launched from Italian planes and submarines off the Algerian coast was reported today by the Italian command.

(These claims were not confirmed by any Allied source.)

News Briefs

Bicycle Stolen—H. R. George, Bellville, reported to the sheriff's office today that his son's bicycle had been stolen from the residence early last night.

Morning Services—Services will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday for members of the First Lutheran church when Rev. G. E. Swoyer will speak on the Thanksgiving theme, "Bless the Lord."

Cited for Contempt — W. H. Graves, 21, Mansfield R. D. 1, was to appear before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today after being arrested by sheriff deputies yesterday afternoon on charges of non-support.

Fire In Home — Central station firemen extinguished a blaze yesterday in the kitchen of the home of Essie Brown, 56 East Sixth street, caused by a defective chimney. Damage to walls and ceiling was reported.

Change Meetings — Mansfield Philatelic society decided this week to meet in the future the third Monday of each month at the Southern hotel instead of on the first and third Tuesday as in the past.

Loses Finger — Calvin Carmel, 360 Grace street, suffered injuries to his right hand Tuesday afternoon while working in the Galion Metallic Vault plant and it was necessary to amputate the little finger at Galion hospital. Carmel was working at a punch press.

Homes Prowled — Patrolmen John Grohol and Carl Beard last night were unable to find trace of a prowler who had been seen near several homes in the 100 block of West Fifth street. Two residents called police headquarters around 1 a. m. to complain about the intruder.

Hold Church Thursday—Union services for the Church of Christ, Presbyterian and Congregational churches in Lexington will be held at the latter church on Thanksgiving morning at 10 a. m. Rev. J. W. Mellick will speak briefly and will be assisted by Rev. Guy Chapin and Rev. G. M. Sauder.

Room Remains Open—Although the Y.M.C.A. and workshop will be closed over Thanksgiving, the USO room will remain open to all service men. Friday the Y will be open as usual at 9 a. m. but the workshop will not open until 1 p. m., Ralph B. Chapman, executive secretary said.

Manhattan Glitter: Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, jr., strolling past the Stage Door Canteen . . . Blond Grace Moore in black and black-haired Lily Pons in white at the Monte Carlo . . . Romantic couple John Royal and bride Leonora Corbett — riding up to the door of Ted Coach Tavern in a glossy black hansom . . . Milton Berle and his best girl in the whirl at Coq Rouge . . . Luise Rainer and Jim-

Kilgallen

Cromwell sipping tea together . . . Charles Boyer being sighed at by the females at Theodore's . . . Lena Horne, the dusky-skinned singer, whom you can bet will be the town's newest craze.

A Stone's Throw From Broadway: Model Candy Jones is a girl who believes in advertising. After she left the Stork last night, little red and white cards were found on every table, reading: "Candy Jones Was Here" . . . Minstrel Man Bill Farrell, who is celebrating his ninth year at the Place Elegant, estimates that he has sung more than 300,000 request tunes during that time . . . If Paul Muni would like to grow nostalgic over the not-too-distance past, his famous "Scarface" is playing at a small 48th street movie-house . . . Sub Lieut. Harold Lawrence, one of the two Canadians who captured a U-boat, put the Hurricane beauties in quite a dither when his presence at the ringside became known. He's handsome enough to rate admiring feminine glances even if he weren't a hero!

The Owl Patrol: Mark Warnow, the Hit Parade maestro, is a worried man these days. His harpist, Verle Mills, is threatening to join the WAACs . . . Louise Stanley and her bridegroom, Charlie Munn, are 5th Avenue bus-top hand-holders . . . Leon & Eddie have installed a dog house with a star on it in their dressing room quarters —for Gaucho their top canine performer. Incidentally, Gaucho's trainers have to address all orders to him in Spanish. The pup no speak English . . . Glamorous Elissa Landi lunched at the Cafe Louis XIV the other day with a farmer's manual under her arm. She and her dad have 80 acres under cultivation at Kingston, N. Y. . . . Walter O'Keefe's announcement on the Stage Door Canteen program was humorous and optimistic:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—Due to the war news of late, the Canteen management is now leasing this place on a week-to-week basis."

Faces In Places: Dorothy Parker and Robert Benchley, a memory-evoking duo at the Algonk . . . Ketti Frings, attractive author of "Mr. Sycamore" with Enid Markey and Stu Erwin at the Ruban Bleu . . . Zero Mostel scoring a quick 225 at the Capital Bowling Alleys . . . Sir Alexander Korda, just off the clipper, with Basil Dean, who handles all the entertainment for the Army in England . . . Ben Hecht and Sam Goldwyn plotting movie plots . . . Elsa Schiaparelli being threatened by Falstaffian David Cowles at the Penguin:

"Im going to name a chic dessert after you!"

All Around the Town: When Cerutti's empties in the early morning hours, Doris Duke Cromwell sneaks to the miniature piano at the rear of the room to take a fast boggie-woggie lesson from Garland Wilson . . . When Russell Patterson opens the doors of the new Riobamba on Dec. 3rd, he will also unleash a new dance which he expects may become a craze—a step entitled, by great coincidence, the "Riobamba." It is something based on a native Ecuadorean dance brought back from South America by Chandra-Kaly and ballroomised by Dorothy Fox. (May I have the next riobamba with you?) . . . Seeing blond Sylvia Ashley in 21 is a reminder that Sylvia wore her coiffure over the eye like Veronica Lake's long before we ever heard of Veronica.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Glamour factory at war:

Sometimes I think a North Carolina boy named Kay Kyser must long, in his selfish moments, for the comparative serenity of a buck private's life, with nothing to do more than take orders, hike umpteen miles a day with full pack, nurse blisters, and gripe.

Coons

Mr. Kyser has not been asked to put on a uniform, which is perhaps fortunate. For Kay is 37, has never let Charles Atlas make a new man of him, and his physique—developed in years of baton-swinging and heaving quizzes at the Kollege of Musical Knowledge—will never make Bernarr Macfadden's body-beautiful pages.

He can still totter around without benefit of cane of course, and it is because he has tottered around so successfully, on war bond tours and camp entertainment and such, that he has been tacitly invited to forget about uniforms for a while.

Kay is chairman of a committee of 25 top radio entertainers formed by the Office of War Information. He seems to have been called into the job because, on bond tours, he threw overboard that old business about entertainers being there just to entertain.

He threw it overboard and talked cold turkey about the war and what it means to each of us. His manager, I understand, swooned on the spot but the crowds seemed to like it. Kay being a sincere sort of fellow who feels this thing deeply.

Well, Kay flies back east for conferences now and then, and in between he hauls his gang of 28 men (at his own expense) around the country to give shows at camps.

Here's a recent Kyser week in brief: Left New York by plane at 5 p. m. Monday, sat up all night, arrived Salt Lake City Tuesday, 8 a. m. Slept 9:30 to 12:30. Flew to Wendover air base (where Bob Hope "never saw so much salt—and no celery" in his life) to give three shows. Then five hours by car back to Salt Lake City—at 1 a. m. One to 3 a. m., worked on next day's show . . . Wednesday noon, after appearances at Fort Douglas, to Salt Lake air base for a show. Back to University of Utah for dress rehearsal, a sandwich, then evening broadcast with army audience. Arrived Hollywood Thursday night, worked Friday and Saturday on next script. Saturday night played Hollywood Canteen 8 to 12:30. Off Sunday at 9 a. m. in bus to Needles, Calif., thence for two-day tour of desert encampments. Back to Hollywood, 2:30 a. m. Wednesday. Left for ferry command. Long Beach, 10:30 a. m., rehearsed and broadcast, back to Hollywood, etc., etc.

If any smart-aleck stepped up to Kay and said "Why ain't YOU in uniform, Bud?" I think Kay would be entitled to totter over and smack him down.

Escaped Murderer Gives Up Peaceably

FDR ASSERTS PRODUCTION HAS NO SINGLE BOSS

Declares Administrators Must Work Together on War Output.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Arguments among some government officials over who bosses the nation's war production were stilled at least temporarily today by President Roosevelt's assertion there is no individual high command.

Present administrators, the president told a press conference yesterday, must work together to solve the problems of production, allocation of materials and scheduling of production.

Further, he declared, all the officials concerned with these problems are supposed to agree. And if they don't, Mr. Roosevelt added, he will put them in a room and tell them to do so.

Government sources have predicted that War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson's appointment of his vice chairman, Charles E. Wilson, as top man over aircraft production might lead to a showdown conflict between WPB and military services over control of munitions production.

In appointing Wilson, Nelson stepped into a field of scheduling and expediting warplane output over which the army and navy had sole authority.

The president, however, interpreted Wilson's new role as chiefly that of plane production co-ordinator charged with synchronizing production of parts with that of the skeleton of the plane itself. For example, he said, Wilson will see whether certain navigation instruments are ready for installation and if some plant is not up to schedule it will be Wilson's job to correct that condition.

Mr. Roosevelt added that the newest planes are much heavier, have a greater wingspread and more horsepower than their corresponding types that come off the assembly lines a year ago, and each requires more man hours to make.

As a result, he said, the government is going to spend more time on the workmanship phase in 1943 than it did a year ago in an effort to get more out of each plane.

ILL 2 WEEKS

St. Clair Dial, 83, Retired Farmer, Carpenter, Dies.

St. Clair Dial, 83, retired farmer and carpenter, died at 5:15 a. m. today in General hospital. He had been ill two weeks and went to the hospital a week ago. He lived at 235 Fifth avenue.

Mr. Dial was born in Crawford county March 14, 1859, son of Isaac and Kathryn Williams Dial. He later lived in Mansfield, Cleveland, and near Olivesburg, and for the past three years had resided with his brother, Clifton L. Dial, in Mansfield. His brother is the only survivor.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Gilbert chapel in Ashland. Mrs. Charles Spies, reader for the Christian Science church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Ashland cemetery.

Deposed Columbus Official Faces New Pay Padding Trial

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Franklin County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett said today that Joseph E. Katona, deposed superintendent of the Columbus city division of parks and forestry, will be retried during January.

A criminal court jury of 11 women and one man, which heard charges that Katona embezzled $1,111 by padding city payrolls, was discharged by Judge Joseph M. Clifford at 4 p. m. yesterday, exactly 24 hours after the case had been placed in its hands.

Judge Clifford polled each individual member of the jury and each replied in substance that there was no possibility of it reaching an agreement.

Earlier in the afternoon, Judge Clifford had overruled a motion offered by Defense Attorney Clarence Addison asking for the court to declare a mistrial after the jury had revealed the status of its deliberations in a note to the court asking for further instructions.

TRAITORS PIN HOPE ON APPEAL

Attorney Says He'll Carry Plea to Supreme Court or to President.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Three Chicago German-born couples, whose trial of treason forked out to death in the electric chair for the men and the penitentiary for the women, pinned their hope for life and freedom today on a court appeal, and failing that, executive clemency from President Roosevelt.

Death sentences were meted out yesterday to the three husbands, Hans Max Haupt, 46, German veteran of World war I; Walter Froehling, 40, a truck driver, and Otto Richard Wergin, 47, former German sailor.

Their wives, Mrs. Erna Emma Haupt, 43, Mrs. Lucille Froehling, 31, and Mrs. Kate Wergin, 44, were sentenced to 25 years imprisonment and $10,000 fines each.

All six were convicted of aiding Herbert Hans Haupt, son of the Haupt couple and one of eight Nazi saboteurs landed by submarines on the east coast last June to carry out a campaign of sabotage in the United States. Young Haupt was executed with five other members of his party.

After the sentences were passed by Federal Judge William J. Campbell, Defense Attorney Paul Warnholtz filed notice of appeal to the circuit court of appeals which does not convene until Jan. 11, 11 days before the date set for the executions on Jan. 22.

"We will take this case to the supreme court if need be," Warnholtz declared. "If we lose there, I will appeal personally to President Roosevelt for executive clemency to prevent this great injustice from being done."

BARTENDER FLIMS FLAMM OUT OF $5,000 WITH OLD RACKET

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — The next time Marcus Flamm buys some "gold strips" for $5,000 he is going to examine them more carefully—especially if the seller is a fast-talking bartender.

Usually it's the man behind the bar who does all the listening but Flamm, a jeweler by occupation, learned to his dismay that the worm sometimes turns.

"He talked so convincingly, that I believed the strips were really gold," the jeweler told Magistrate Robert F. Mahoney. "He should have been a salesman."

"He" was Sam Puretz, 38-year-old mix-master who, with just a little help in the form of an introduction, thinly sliced the famous gold brick bunco racket into gold "strips" and successfully used it to strip Flamm of his cash, police said.

Flamm told the court that he met Puretz through one David Rubin who told him he "knew of a man who has some gold strips that can be bought for a song."

Puretz, however, sang the song and Flamm paid in cash, demanding cagely, however, that the bag full of strips was to be placed in a public locker before the money was handed over.

When neither Rubin nor Puretz showed for the promised weighing of the metal, Flamm removed the bag from the locker and found the "gold" strips had turned to brass.

"You were flim-flammed," a sympathetic cop told the jeweler.

DRIVERS FINED

One Involved In Crash at Road Intersection.

Occupants escaped injury when autos driven by Ernest Adkins, Shiloh, and Henry Baker, Plymouth, collided at a cross road on State Route 603 yesterday afternoon, state highway patrolmen reported today.

Adkins, cited by patrolmen on the charge of failing to observe a stop sign, was fined $35 and costs in municipal court this morning by Acting Judge H. H. Schettler. Thirty dollars of the fine was suspended on payment for damages done to the Baker car.

Elwood Bridle, 18, of Parma, speeding 70 miles per hour on U. S. Route 30-S last night was fined $10 and costs in municipal court today.

Arrested by highway officials yesterday on the charge of failure to register his auto for license plates, Merle Noblet, Mansfield R. D. 6, was fined $5 and costs in municipal court.

PLAN FOR PARTY

Moose Members to Stage Annual Yule Event Dec. 16.

Mansfield lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, last night made plans for its annual Christmas party for the children of the Richland county home, to be held Dec. 16, a date suggested by home officials. Charles Allman is chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

Fifteen candidates for membership were obligated at last night's meeting and heard a talk by Attorney Frank Kulp in keeping with the Thanksgiving season.

Initiation will be held next Tuesday night.

UP AND DOWN THE STREET

Some men don't have much room to talk about "dumb women drivers" if their answers to drivers' examination questions are similar to those of a Knox county resident. Charles Sowers, newly appointed license examiner from Lexington, starting out on his first week of giving drivers' tests under the new schedule, reported a humorous incident while in Mt. Vernon Tuesday. Upon asking an applicant what the required number of lights were for a car, the man quickly replied . . . "two head lights, a tail light and a dome light."

Found—a way to make the feet of rayon hose last longer: . . . Several ingenious localites have discovered that beeswax rubbed on the toes and heels of hose makes the threads stronger to resist the wear and tear on them. Buy a cake of wax, heat it slightly over a lamp bulb and rub it carefully on the parts of hose which wear out first, is what they recommend, and what's more the girls swear by it.

GET EVIDENCE

Argentine Officials Round Up Data on Espionage.

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—A high government source said today that "a whole truckload" of potential evidence had been seized thus far in the nationwide investigation of United States charges that Axis espionage exists in Argentina.

This source, who asked that his name not be used, said there would be no official statements until the investigation had reached a point where action could be taken against suspects because, he asserted, "we don't want the birds to fly away."

The government source declined comment on newspaper reports that Johann Jacob Napp, alleged spy, had named Capt. Dietrich Niebuhr, German naval attache, as his superior but said Napp had made statements to the authorities which were "clear and definite in scope."

OHIOAN HELD ON SEDITION COUNT

Charged With Attempt to Damage Morale of Soldiers.

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Howard Victor Broenstrup, 56, of Dayton, O., will be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Roger W. Knox on charges of sedition and attempting to damage the morale of American armed forces.

Broenstrup, who was arrested Monday at a vacation retreat by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents will face removal proceedings designed return him to Washington to stand trial.

FBI agents found he possessed notes on the trial of William Dudley Pelely and literature of an organization known as "The Silver Shirts," it was said.

COWBOY HENRY CAPTURED IN TEXAS HOTEL

Police Find Husband of Thrill Murderess Exhausted, Armed With Pocketknife.

BEAUMONT, Tex.—(U.P.)—Burly Claude (Cowboy) Henry, the tough guy who fled a Texas prison farm only a few days before his wife is scheduled to die in a Louisiana electric chair, was recaptured here today.

The convicted murderer, who had been sentenced to a 50-year prison term for the slaying of a policeman, offered no resistance when he was seized in a small downtown hotel.

Two theories for his flight from the prison farm had been advanced: That he planned to attempt to free his wife, Toni Jo Henry, awaiting execution in the Lake Charles, La., jail Saturday for the slaying of a salesman; that he planned to kidnap the judge, John T. Hood of Beaumont, who sentenced the woman to death.

Late last night Beaumont police received a tip that the 220-pound Henry had registered at the Beaumont hotel.

Police under direction of Chief Ross Dickey and Detective Captain B. O. Craft, jr., placed the hotel under close guard. Shortly after 7 a. m. they broke into Henry's room.

"He was exhausted — almost unconscious," Chief Dickey said. "We were prepared to shoot to kill if necessary. But Henry had only a pocketknife."

Tony Jo thought her husband was crazy when she heard he had broken jail to attempt to release her.

That presumably was Henry's intent, when he and Clyde Byers, 23, a hijacker, stole a truck Monday and fled from the Sugarland, Tex., prison farm, with bullets humming about their ears. His wife accepted it as fact.

Henry and his wife became murderers in 1940. She and a traveling companion, Horace F. Burks, hitched a ride with J. P. Calloway, Houston, Tex., salesman. They took him into a frozen rice field near Lake Charles, made him strip, and while he prayed for mercy on his knees, she shot him.

She recently signed a statement that she had killed him for a thrill and absolved Burks.

Shop Overcharges Girls for Hose, Must Pay Them $50

NEW YORK—(INS)—Miss Bernice Gallagher, a coffee shop hostess and Miss Louise McDevitt, a waitress, today were richer by $50 because a woman's shop had charged them $1 per pair over the ceiling price set on nylon hosiery.

The award was made by Magistrate Leopold Prince after one of the girls demonstrated to the edification of spectators that the stockings for which she paid $2.85 had rayon tops and as such were to be sold no higher than $1.85 the pair.

"I'm wearing a pair of them now," Miss McDevitt told the court, carefully raising the hem of her skirt to demonstrate that the hose indeed had rayon tops.

Under OPA rulings, violators of directives are liable for three times the cost of the article they have sold or $50, whichever is greater.

KILL OR SEIZE 100,000 NAZIS IN RED DRIVE

Russians Squeeze Foe in Big Double Offensive in Don-Volga Area.

cific figure on Germans captured overnight, but dispatches said the previous total of 36,000 now, too, was probably close to 50,000.

(No official figures were given on the numbers of Nazi wounded, but in London a Reuters dispatch from Moscow estimated by the traditional ratio of three wounded for every soldier killed that the wounded totaled 120,000.)

Soviet communiques reported both rail supply lines to the siege forces cut early in the offensive which started seven days ago and today's front line dispatches indicated that only a narrow strip running through the Don river elbow north of Kalach and south of Trekhostrovskaya remained open to an estimated 300,000 Germans and their allies for moving supplies, or escaping.

The fall of Kalach, on the Stalingrad-Kamensk railroad, was reported Sunday Trekhostrovskaya fell yesterday to forces pushing down from the southwest

Adding to the troubles being built up behind the Axis siege armies, the Russians reported yesterday that they had shoved a column down the Volga from the north to effect a junction with Stalingrad's tough garrison in the northern part of the city and clear out a wedge that the invaders had driven between this sector and the main part of the town.

Battlefront dispatches reporting gains of 25 more miles yesterday in the Chernyshevskaya area within the Don bend indicated that the Russian advance in this sector was reaching menacingly close to the Nazi-held southern section of the main Moscow-to-Rostov rail line

The drive southwest of Stalingrad also continued

Red Star said it was impossible to count the spoils which fell to the advancing Russians as the Germans withdrew. Automobiles, tanks and even airplanes were left behind.

Russian dispatches acclaimed the surrounding and capture of three Nazi divisions in the Don bend southwest of Kletskaya, 120 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

German forces arrayed before Stalingrad still were described as strong, although their case grew more desperate hourly as the corridor behind them narrowed

Cheered by this direct and indirect relief, the hardy defenders of the war-torn city pushed ahead slowly in their own offensive, the regular midnight communique reporting the enemy cleared out of several dozen blockhouses and blindages in the factory district with 900 invaders killed.

To the south 3,000 Germans were reported killed when the Russians occupied several towns, the names of which were not given.

Local German attacks were said to have been repulsed in the Black sea zone near Tuapse and in the Caucasus near Nalchik while small scale thrusts gained some ground for the Russians in the Leningrad area.

It was on Aug. 25 that the Axis armies, strong and confident after sweeping more than 350 miles eastward in about two months, arrived before the hard rock of the Volga and began trying to crack it in direct assault.

The Russians estimated 100,000 besiegers were killed in the first 60 days—but today Hitler apparently was faced with a choice of withdrawing the estimated 300,000 men still at the bloody job or running the risk of having them encircled and annihilated.

In Tuesday's fierce fighting 15,000 more Germans were reported killed and 12,000 captured, bringing the total dead to 44,000 and the prisoners to 36,000 in the offensive which the special communique indicated was launched Nov. 19.

(The Soviet communiques gave no figures on the Germans wounded but in London a Reuters dispatch from Moscow estimated they had lost 120,000 this way, apparently following the usual military men's ratio of three wounded for each one killed.)

The communiques said that northwest of Stalingrad one Red army slashed ahead 25 miles.

Indicative, perhaps, of weakening Nazi morale under the weight of the Russian attack and the cold of the Russian winter was the communiques' claim that the remnants of three German divisions along with their three generals and the commanders' staffs had been captured after being encircled south of Kletskaya, about 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

The special communique gave his incomplete count on the military supplies that have fallen to he Russians in the period Nov. 9-24: 1,164 guns, 431 tanks in working order or disabled, 3,940 rucks, more than 5,000 horses, ,000,000 shells, 18,000,000 cartridges and large numbers of infantry arms and dumps of equipment and provisions not yet ounted.

trars have been asked to report at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. Monday's registration will be at the 1 to 5 and 6 to 9 p. m. hours.

Nelson Neff, chief clerk of the county war price and rationing board today expressed appreciation for the services of public school teachers in last weeks' registration of A book applications and for the work of volunteer registrars as well.

The rationing board offices at 43 North Mulberry street will operate with a skeleton staff tomorrow—Thanksgiving day—but will not accept gasoline book registrations

Rationing of gasoline on a nation-wide basis will start next Tuesday, Dec 1, it was announced today in Washington as William Jeffers, rubber administrator, repulsed efforts of rebellious congressmen to force a 30 or 90-day postponement.

Members of a house committee yesterday were told by Jeffers that while universal gas rationing was not necessary because of a motor fuel shortage it was vitally essential as a means of conserving rubber.

In Mansfield rationing officials today said they have not been advised of any program adopted by filling station operators to suspend business Sunday as a means of emptying gas tanks for the advent of the rationing process Tuesday.

ITALY UPSET

Calls Last of 19-Year-Olds Amid Rumors of Coup.

LONDON —(U P)— A broadcast by the German-controlled radio Paris today said that Italy has called to the colors all remaining members of the class of 1923—the 19-year-olds

Reports reaching here from Turkey quoted diplomats who passed through Italy a week ago as reporting widespread gossip in Milan over the possibility of a military coup d'etat and an attempt to sign a separate peace.

The diplomatic travellers said that it was estimated that 65 000 Germans entered Italy in the past six weeks They said the Nazis were reporting to the Gestapo on Italy's flagging morale and developments in the political field.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson was to appear before the committee in closed session today, but Truman did not disclose what subject he was to discuss.

Jeffers yesterday repeated before a house interstate subcommittee his charge that the campaign against the gas rationing program was being "financed by people who ought to know better" He exhibited some of the thousands of printed post cards which he said had been sent to him opposing the program, and declared that they show that an organized drive is being conducted against gas rationing the southern side of the airfield and every day at noon would lob a few shells into the American positions The marines and soldiers called the battery "Millimeter Pete" But so well was it hidden that Americans never located it.

Since the specific location of the present Japanese elements southwest of the airfield is known, it was expected that steps would be taken to eliminate them.

Meanwhile, the navy reported that American troops made further but "limited" advances west of the Matanikau river. The Japanese are believed to be massed largely in an area about 25 miles long and from a few hundred yards to four miles wide in the northwest corner of Guadalcanal. The terrain is extremely difficult, heavily wooded and mountainous except for a few small beaches. In view of this, American progress was expected to be slow.

During the night of Nov. 22-23 (Island Time), American aircraft hammered enemy positions on the island. That was believed designed to prevent night time counter-attacks against American forces.

U. S. Bombers Smash Two Jap China Bases

WITH THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCES IN CHINA—(Delayed)—(AP)—American bombers, accompanied by the largest fighter escorts yet seen in the China theater, subjected two of Japan's main air bases in South China to punishing attacks today without drawing opposition from a single enemy plane

An air port on the island of Sanchu, 72 miles south of Canton, was raided in the morning and installations on the Tienho airfield at Canton were destroyed in the afternoon

They handed it back two for one for the ineffective pre-dawn enemy raid on the Kwangsi airdrome in which two of three Japanese bombers were shot out of the sky and the third possibly was destroyed.

Three hangars believed filled with Japanese planes, a big barracks and a large workshop area at the Sanchu airport received direct hits in the morning raid by the American Skydragons

Batter Japs In Papuan 'Last Stand'

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia —(AP)— American and Australian troops were gripped in a bitter close-quarter battle with a "last stand" force of Japanese on the beaches of northeastern New Guinea today as the bloody struggle in the Buna-Gona area approached its climax.

Every plane the Allied forces could muster was sent skimming over the Japanese positions with machine-guns and cannons blazing. Bombers added high explosives to the confusion and death below. On the ground Allied troops, who have surrounded the Japanese on three sides, closed in slowly.

The heaviest fighting was taking place on a coastal strip 12 miles long between Buna and Gona At Buna both Australian and American units were reported attacking an airfield in the face of stiff enemy artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire.

Nimitz Unaware of Jap-Reported 'Battle'

HONOLULU—(INS)—Japanese claims that a violent and decisive naval battle was under way in the southwest Pacific were denied today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet

"I don't know of any action going on at the moment," said Admiral Nimitz, who would know.

The Japanese report reached London via the Vichy radio.

Death, Prison for Treason

Found guilty of treason against their adopted country, three Chicago German-American men have been sentenced to death and their wives have been sentenced to 25 years in prison and fined $10,000 each. They were accused of aiding and harboring Herbert Hans Haupt, executed Nazi saboteur. Pictured, left to right, top, are Otto Wergin, Hans Max Haupt, father of young Haupt, and Walter Froehling, all to be electrocuted. Their wives, sent to prison, are, left to right, bottom, Mrs. Wergin, Mrs. Haupt, and Mrs Froehling the prisoner after the plea had been entered.

Custody of Allen was transferred to the county jail this morning pending filing of the bond with the county clerk of courts.

Police Captain Paul Whipp and Patrolman Richard Hecht broke down the door of the Allen apartment early yesterday after they had answered complaints of neighboring tenants that a man was beating a woman in the Allen apartment.

Allen, they said threatened to shoot any person who tried to enter the door and they heard a woman's voice warning him to put away his gun and open the door. When Allen fired a bullet through the bathroom door, where police say Mrs. Allen told them she was hiding in the tub, they broke in the door, both covering Allen with their revolvers, Hecht disarming the man as Captain Whipp stood guard.

After breaking down the bathroom door the police discovered Mrs. Allen had escaped through a window and sought shelter in the basement.

Warn Hoarders Butter Spoils Within 60 Days

erators without becoming rancid.

Dairy officials urged purchasers to continue their buying as in the past, and cautioned against the buying up of extra butter.

"Butter stored in home refrigeration units cannot be kept more than 60 days, due to the fact that the moisture in the product is lost, thereby causing it to become rancid," he said.

The decrease in stocks was explained as resulting from the manufacture of vast quantities of powdered milk, condensed milk and cheese, most of which is for the use of the armed forces. Farmers throughout the country are finding it much more profitable to sell the milk for the manufacture of these products than for the making of butter, and therefore all butter dealers have been forced to proceed cautiously in their sales.

throwing heavy reinforcements into southern Tunisia and probably the key port of Tripoli too.

If true, it may be difficult to separate the humbled African corps withdrawing westward in Libya and the swiftly gathered forces in Tunisia.

The British Eighth army approaching El Agheila from Agedabia in Libya should know in a very few days whether Field Marshal Erwin Rommel plans to make a stand in the narrow bottleneck at El Agheila or continue his flight toward Tripoli.

French patrols in southern Tunisia under the command of Gen. Henri Giraud were reported yesterday continuing scouting activity against an apparently increased infiltration of Germans there.

American parachute troops guarding an airfield in the south engaged an Axis column of mechanized troops and took a number of prisoners, a spokesman at Allied headquarters in Africa said.

Dispatches from African headquarters said the Germans still were entrenched in an arc around Bizerte and Tunis, controlling an area extending some 25 to 30 miles outside the two cities.

The Vichy radio reported that the Germans had landed reinforcements at both Gabes and Sfax and it was expected that the Axis would fight bitterly to hold the coastal road connecting their forces in the Bizerte-Tunis area with Tripoli. Sfax is about 65 miles north of Gabes on the coastal road.

Radio Morocco reported that the Allied-occupied port of Bone on the Algerian coast was bombed last night by Axis raiders despite a heavy barrage of anti-aircraft fire Bone is only a few miles from the Tunisian border.

Huge German Air Transport Downed

LONDON—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch said today that a mammoth German transport seaplane, capable of carrying up to 80 fully equipped soldiers, was shot into the sea yesterday off the eastern coast of Tunisia by RAF long-range fighters from Malta.

Declares Hitler Sees Sea Control Vital

LONDON —(AP)— Hitler's great efforts to hold Tunisia and retain command of the Sicilian narrows show that at last he has recognized that command of the seas will be the most vital factor in victory, an authoritative source said today in a review of the past week's events in the Mediterranean

Since the fuehrer has been forced to the conclusion that shipping will be the foundation of victory, the German war effort now is being devoted to U-boat construction and maintenance and the training of crews, this authority, who must remain anonymous, said.

At the same time there has been a heavy concentration of Axis air power for the rapidly approaching fight for the Sicilian channel, he continued, and there are good indications that part of the German air force has been drawn off from the Russian front and sent to the Mediterranean area.

He said that the Allies' Mediterranean problem is complicated by the fact that, while it has shown little disposition to fight, the Italian navy still is in being and the Allies must maintain a force capable of countering anything it may do.

Declares Nazis In 'Awful' Position

LONDON—(AP)—The Nazis besiegers of Stalingrad are in an "awful" military position compelled to withdraw from the Volga city through a menaced, curving corridor of Russian armies and to cross the Don river if they are to get free of the Soviet grip, a British military source said today.

This informant, who must remain anonymous, added, however that there was no confirmation here thta the Germans had ordered a general withdrawal from Stalingrad.

He said any German counterattack to relieve the menaced army would be "tremendously difficult."

This informant pointed out that the Russian offensive may prove to be the first major land action of the war not accompanied by heavy air fighting Two possible reasons, he said, might be unfavorable weather or the diversion of much German air strength to North Africa.

Ohio Farmer Picked to Conduct Trans-Atlantic Telephone Talk.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Farmer Fay N. Wolcott, of Fulton county, is accustomed to a neighborly audience when he speaks over the party line, but when he picks up the telephone next Monday noon most of the English-speaking world will have an opportunity to eavesdrop

Wolcott was selected to exchange views with Stanley Ratcliff, English farmer, via Trans-Atlantic telephone, the proceedings to be broadcast over the NBC network as a part of the National Farm and Home hour

Wolcott, adjudged an "average American farmer," owns and operates 159 acres and is assisted by his wife, Nancy, and three children, 14, 9 and 5 years of age.

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

YOUR grocer is really a counselor on quality. When in doubt about brands, his "extra something" can guide your choice. Ask him what soft drink he has drunk recently. 6 out of 10 grocers will tell you, "Coca-Cola".

Every sip tells the story of quality in Coca-Cola. How delicious and distinctive is its taste. How only Coca-Cola itself offers this taste. How it goes beyond mere thirst-quenching. How it gives you a welcome feeling of refreshment. How 57 years of experience give it outstanding and unique goodness.

Your grocer knows that when you ask for Coca-Cola . . . or use its friendly abbreviation, Coke . . . you want the real thing. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

"Yes, ma'am. You're lucky. You know, it's amazing how folks keep on asking for it, even when they're not sure they can get it as often in wartime, as before. It's the real thing, all right."

Odd, how many people seem to think that they are the ones who should have extra gasoline.

Another notion will have to be revamped when it becomes more widely known that the victorious General Montgomery is a minister's son and a teetotaler.

One worrier wants to know what effect a Jap invasion would have on real estate titles, currency and bank accounts —but, in the event of invasion, he'll have more serious matters to worry about.

Death Penalty for Traitors

THE GRIM circumstance of three more men being sentenced to death for the crime of treason brings even keener realization that the United States is engaged in a war in which enemy nations hold life lightly and that any idea of dealing tolerantly with persons who conspire to weaken the nation's war effort must be abandoned.

The three men under death sentence in Chicago were convicted of aiding one of the six German saboteurs who were executed in Washington, and as was said by the trial judge, "To countenance such conduct by leniency while our nation fights for its very existence would be such dereliction of duty as would be second only to the treason thus condemned."

Possibly it was the pre-war tolerance of this country toward subversive alien activity that induced a feeling on the part of Germany and Japan that Americans were "soft" and unable to protect themselves against aggressive acts, internal or external. The contrary is now being proved in a military way, and it is also necessary to serve notice that the extreme penalty awaits convicted traitors.

Coffee Drinkers Miss Stimulation

EXCEPT in Civil war times, when scarcity of coffee induced efforts to find palatable substitutes, North Americans have taken for granted that somebody would see to it that an adequate supply of coffee would be available at the nearest grocery store—without stopping to think that an ocean trip of several thousand miles was involved in getting it to them.

In this week when no coffee is being sold to consumers it is timely to note the sudden interest that millions of people have developed in this commodity and the urgent need of coffee's mild stimulant that is felt by habitual drinkers of this beverage.

Difficulty in finding a satisfactory substitute for coffee, either in taste or effect, may be largely due to absence of caffeine from the substitutes, as it is the caffeine content of coffee that provides the "brain and heart stimulation" to which coffee drinkers have become accustomed, and which also accounts for the fact that coffee "keeps some people awake" when they drink it in the evening.

A dictionary word, "caffeinism," springs from recognition of an ailment that may result from drinking too much coffee. It is defined as "a morbid condition caused by excessive use of coffee."

Probably because of its relatively mild effects, reformers have never extended their activities to the point of attempting to prohibit the use of coffee, and, so far as is a matter of record, the Mormon church is the only religious group that bans the use of coffee by its members.

Coffee was not known in Europe when Columbus discovered America and it was not until a century and a half later that Francis Bacon, English author and philosopher, wrote: "They have in Turkey a drink called coffee. This drink comforteth the brain and heart and helpeth digestion." Soon afterward coffee houses sprang up in Oxford and London—and thus the habit spread.

Starting next week there's to be rationing—with one pound presumed to meet the needs of a coffee-drinker during a five-week period. This figures out as about one cup a day—which isn't likely to result in any new cases of "caffeinism."

Too Small To Be Noticed

SOME creatures, it is said, are so small that they are never stepped on. If this applies to countries also, it may explain why Hitler, who generally respects only the rights of the stronger, has left Andorra alone.

This little republic of 191 square miles and 5,000 population, lying high up in the Eastern Pyrenees between France and Spain, was in the line of march of the German soldiers occupying the whole of France. Yet Hitler ordered his troops to keep out of Andorra. So this tiny state, 1,000 years old, which kept its independence during the stormy times of Napoleon and the first World war, may hope to weather the present tempest also.

Andorra is not the only small state surviving in Europe today, nor is it even the smallest. Between Austria and Switzerland lies the principality of Liechtenstein, which has enjoyed a separate existence since 1719. With an area of but 65 square miles and a population of 10,000, it belongs to the Swiss Customs union and uses Swiss currency, yet is independent.

The smallest of all is San Marino, in northern Italy, with an area of only 32 square miles and a population of 14,000. It boasts of being the oldest state in Europe, going back to the fourth century. Like Liechtenstein and Andorra, it has managed to stay out of the conflicts that have engulfed practically all Europe.

Butter Next Among 'Shortages'

ALTHOUGH it may seem strange to people who have been accustomed to being able to buy whatever they wanted whenever they wanted it, there's strong likelihood that butter and cream will be added to "shortages" before very long. But that's what war does.

The output of butter is even now beginning to decline. One per cent less is being produced than a year ago. The prospects are for still less as time goes on, unless there is a rapid diversion of skilled dairymen back to farms.

There is also a constantly increasing demand for dairy products to go overseas, for our fighting forces and for our allies. This will be increased wherever we are able to take over portions of occupied countries, whose people need desperately whatever food we can get to them.

With all their versatility, soy beans still seem to lack something when substituted for coffee.

The Japs are just beginning to discover the "alas" in Alaska.

PICKETING THE WAR

Italy's Bad Bargain With Axis

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Italy is no serious problem. It didn't want to be an Axis power any of the time. Benito Mussolini wanted it to be, but his country never was a bit enthusiastic over its partnership with the Germans. Today it's outright hostile to the affiliation. Probably Benito himself regrets being involved with Herr Hitler.

Oh, the Italians'll fold up on small provocation. The democracies will scarcely need to feel sore at them for having been juggled into the Axis.

Germany remains to be licked. We are entitled to be angry at the Germans. Still, they are not all Nazis. Once they are squelched it will be something of a puzzle to dispose of them.

Adolf, individually, will be easy enough to attend to. In fact, it is likely that he will arrange matters on his own account, with poison or some such thing, in typical German fashion, as soon as he recognizes his finish. If he neglects to do so, his fellow Teutons are pretty apt to kill him with no outside assistance.

But for the rank and file?

They won't be possible to obliterate. It won't do to let them recrudesce for 20 years, as after the last war, and then tear loose again, like this time. Something permanent will have to be done to them. What will it be?

Won't Stay Split.

The suggestion is made that they should be split into a lot of peewee little governments — too small, each, to be dangerous. The difficulty with that scheme is that the sub-divided states would be sure to federate.

The idea is advanced that central Europe should be chopped up into a lot of small areas, to be parcelled out to rulership by governments like the Scandinavians, the Balkans and the Near Easterners—a comparatively peaceable bunch, that might be trusted on into perpetuity. Yet nobody really believes that this solution would fill the bill indefinitely. It generally is agreed that the Teutons would reorganize themselves ultimately and resume the warpath.

They are a virile and cohesive aggregation. It was supposed they were smashed at the end of 1918, and now look at them!

Democratic statesmanship does not say much about this post-war prospect, but it will have to worry about it at the later peace table.

All Caucasians.

There's this, though, to recognize as a quality of European-American statesmanship: warfare and diplomacy. Racially, to a certain extent, they understand one another. They're all Caucasian.

That mutual understanding does not exist as between Occidentals and Orientals.

The Chinese do not count in the present situation, because, as it happens, they are our allies in the existing state of affairs.

Europe? Yeah. The western world—Europe's creation.

All okay! They unite.

Europe and Asia? Maybe these cannot merge so easily.

But, if they can, how about getting the colored races into the combination?

If this thing's to be world-wide, aren't they essential to it? I think so.

Privilege or Pest?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

TROUBLE? No use kidding yourself that you can duck it. You may read a How-To-Be-Happy book daily, and follow all the rules—yet Life will continue to be the same old pain-in-the-neck.

However, there's a way of "beating the rap"—if you're smart enough to take it: a plan by which you can turn ANY trouble, however big or black, into a lasting profit. Interested? Then come along -

Trouble—as we said before—crashes every party. So what? How are you going to take it when it crashes yours?

There are just two ways. You can take it PERSONALLY—or IMPERSONALLY.

YOU CAN REGARD IT AS A PURELY PRIVATE MISFORTUNE -

OR YOU CAN ACCEPT IT AS AN ADMISSION TICKET INTO A LARGER, WISER LIFE.

The vicious thing about trouble isn't the trouble itself—but the way we take it.

If you take trouble personally, there's simply no end to Cain it can raise. For you immediately add to the original Trouble a lot of reactions which shouldn't come into the picture at all. You add Self-Pity . . . and Resentment . . . and Fear, in every form. Worst of all you add Egotism.

You refuse to realize that thousands of other human beings have had exactly the same misfortune. You DON'T WANT to realize this. You want to feel that YOUR misfortune is the cruelest blow on earth . . . that no one has ever suffered as you are suffering.

In no time at all your Trouble becomes an obsession which blots out all other considerations. You lose your imagination . . . your sense of values. You isolate yourself . . . become impossible to approach. Presently you begin to use your Trouble as an alibi to escape things you do not wish to do . . . or a means of obtaining attention or consideration you would not otherwise receive. Trouble has become a racket—IT HAS MADE A HEEL OUT OF A ONCE DECENT HUMAN BEING.

This is not a vague theory, but grim reality. We all know people who have made a racket out of their Grief or Loss. Our insane asylums are filled with people who took Trouble personally until they could not take it otherwise . . . until it became a Frankenstein which destroyed them. THE DISTANCE BETWEEN A FIT OF POUTS AND A PADDED CELL IS FAR SHORTER THAN YOU IMAGINE!

That's the first, the easiest, the commonest way to take Trouble. But there's another way which—believe it or not—turns Trouble into a privilege instead of a pest.

You want to know a wider life, don't you? You envy those sophisticated people whose spirits are at home on any trail. You wish that you might share their exquisite poise and control. You may. And Trouble is your chance!

For Trouble isn't merely an individual misery . . . it is also an initiation into the Big Game. It is a challenge . . . the proof of what-have-you. Nor is Trouble an accident. It is as normal a part of growth as cutting our teeth or growing a regular chin instead of baby dimples. And if you can remember this—THE WORLD IS YOURS.

For nothing gives power and poise so quickly, so thoroughly, as a spell of misery, gallantly borne. Nothing opens the door of experience to you so surely nor binds your fellow man to you as completely . . . as mastered grief. For if you can remember the sting of your own agony, yet translate that sting into terms of universal misery, you hold the key which will unlock every heart on earth.

GRIEF IS THE GREAT LEVELER . . . THE GREAT EDUCATOR.

IF YOU CAN TAKE GRIEF IN YOUR STRIDE, AS ALL NORMAL GROWING CREATURES DO, YOU'LL NOT ONLY GAIN CONTROL OVER YOUR OWN CHILDISHNESS BUT YOU'LL HAVE THE BULGE ON ALL THE OTHER CRY-BABIES.

Household Calendars.

The calendar is taking on an increasing importance in the home of every citizen today. What with sugar, coffee and tire rationing already in effect, and gasoline to go on the "books" Dec. 1, and other commodities scheduled for the comparatively near future, Mr. John Q. Citizen is going to have to keep on his toes as regards the day of the month. He is going to have to remember when each stamp is effective for the obtaining of some necessary article, and when there is some other responsibility resting on his shoulders, not overlooking periodical tire inspections and the quarterly payments of his income taxes.

It is a rather safe bet that the annual calendar distribution by insurance men and banks and other lines which have made this a tradition, is going to be unusually popular this year.—Springfield News.

Interpreting the War News

Elaborate Axis Plans Thwarted By Use of Growing Allied Power

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

GOOD NEWS for the cause of the United Nations comes not only from the Russian and North African fronts but from the southwest Pacific and Asia.

Allied air activity against Burma and Indo-China and Japan's apparent inability to make effective counter moves at present presage the day when Allied forces will move into Burma to re-open the back door to China.

Such a drive has been confidently forecast by Allied commanders in the Far East, who see it as a necessary preliminary to the showdown against the main land forces of the Japanese.

Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell, commanding army air forces in southeast Asia, reports that the American air force in India continues to grow. At the same time the Japanese have been unable to reinforce their air power sufficiently to cope with increasing and destructive raids on their positions.

United States heavy bombers have attacked the Japanese base at Mandalay in Burma for the second time in three days, causing considerable damage. The bombers met with little opposition. The bombers also have attacked Rangoon, Toungoo, Haipong in Indo-China and other points, centering on airfields, railways and port installations.

Gen. Bissell suggests that the Japanese are being kept so busy elsewhere that they are unable to spare either ships or planes for this area, which is threatening to become a new theater of war.

Japan's strength is not exhausted but it is becoming apparent that its lines are too extended for effective operations on more than one front at a time. Tokyo's present pre-occupation is with the area of New Guinea and the Solomon islands.

Despite a major fleet concentration, the Japanese were soundly trounced in the latest battle of the Solomons and are hard put to retain a foothold on Guadalcanal. They have their backs to the sea on New Guinea and seem destined to lose their strategic bases there.

* * *

THE CONCLUSION seems inescapable that the Japanese have been thwarted in their ambition to invade India, take control of the Bay of Bengal and the Indian ocean, and march westward to join Hitler in the Middle East. Hitler similarly is not headed for the Middle East at the moment. This grandiose strategy of the Axis has faded from the picture.

Japan also does not appear in a position to invade Siberia, which had been expected.

In the southwest Pacific, the danger of a Japanese invasion of Australia has dwindled almost to the vanishing point by developments in the Solomons and New Guinea.

As it shapes up, instead of being a threat, the Japanese themselves are threatened from India and the southwest Pacific. They will have to divide their sea and air forces to stave off offensives in both areas.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The boys here who really know what's going on are getting a snicker out of those criticisms against Admiral Darlan's being on our side now.

War experts who are on their toes think that our pre-invasion dealings with the powers that be in North Africa probably saved more than 50,000 American and British lives, not to mention lives saved among the French colonials, and the vast amount of materials and shipping that would have had to be sacrificed if we had pitched into the North African front without an "understanding" with those in power.

President Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, already has recognized the vast importance of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's pre-invasion trip into Algeria. In military circles there hasn't been a word of criticism against our taking gold coins into the North African theater. We have probably done a bit of palm greasing in several other European nations, but just why a few persons should step up and declare this a treason to democracy is a bit of a mystery.

HITLER had his Quislings scattered all over the conquered nations. How much of his success was due to fifth column activity is impossible to say, but most military experts agree that his armed forces would have been impotent in many theaters without the fifth column.

Yet Hitler's fifth column was just a handful compared to what the United Nations have for the asking. Conservative military leaders here estimate that there are 100,000,000 persons in the occupied territories of Europe who are willing to risk their lives in an all-out uprising against Nazi domination.

In the forefront of this vast army are the Norwegian, Dutch, Belgium and French underground; General Mihailovich's Chetnik army in Yugoslavia; the behind-the-lines guerillas in Russia; the Poles and Czechs and Greeks who are fighting Nazi domination with everything in the book. Perhaps there are millions of these who in their little way are apparently as cooperative with the Axis authorities as Admiral Darlan has been. Perhaps there are other millions who are only waiting until they can see their way clear to throw off the Nazi yoke.

NOT to make use of these, and even those others outside the conquered countries who are seeking only future security for themselves and their people, would be one of the greatest strategic errors the United Nations could make.

That, at least, is the opinion of the experts. They also say that for the first time in history the United States is coming of age and playing the European diplomatic game with the same marked deck they have been using over there for centuries. That's why the topflight men are snickering at criticism of our psychological warfare in North Africa. It's the first time we have really won a pot that way and apparently it has been a big one. When the whole story is finally told, the size of our winnings may be ten times what they seem to be now.

Man About Manhattan

Propaganda Deluge

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Speaking as a private citizen, who occasionally goes to the movies, I would like to get it off my chest that I am fed up with short film subjects intended to stir up hatred of the enemy, whoop up the sale of war bonds, or squeeze out tears.

Now get it straight. I have a 24 hour hatred of the enemy, I'd buy six war bonds a day if I could, and I miss very much my friends and relatives who are away in the services—some wounded, some dead. What I mean is that these films defeat their purpose. They are an insult to the American intelligence.

We know too much about propaganda and we oldsters remember too many atrocity stories told in the last war (the crucifixions, the little boys with their right hands cut off) which were proved to be untrue.

THIS sort of stuff being dished up — the waving flags, the marching men, rolling tanks, battleships plunging in heavy seas, planes in V formation, machines turning out implements of war, farmers ploying—is hooey, every bit of it. It is the obvious, the unimaginative.

We are entitled to war effort pictures that go deep into the heart of this big, clumsy, fumbling but intensely loyal country of ours, and show us the great things that some people and some communities are going about this war, and all we get is corn.

As a Broadway smarty said about 'This Is the Army"—a great stage hit because it deserved to be one on its merits:

"When the curtain goes up and you see the flag and 300 soldiers standing at attention, what are you going to do—hiss?"

NO, PEOPLE go to motion picture theaters to be entertained or distracted. When a mother is reminded of her son—becoming gaunt and ill in the ropics, perhaps eating rice in Manila or fish in Iceland, perhaps missing in action—what good is done by making her tears flow?

And I contend that Old Glory has been misused by being made part and parcel of some very bad "entertainment"—as an appeal for applause, or emotion, which the show is unable to arounse by its own weak banality. I thrill and shiver and get misty when I hear a band playing the Star Spangled Banner, but I resent very much being forced to stand when the sound track, or a phonograph somewhere back in the wings, grinds out the same anthem—because some theater manager whom I don't know or care about decided he'd better pep up his show.

I heard a girl laugh when a picture of "They Gave Us Hell" Stilwell was flashed on the screen. I saw an audience silent and completely unmoved by the fighting words of President Roosevelt—obviously fitted in to bolster a very weak "cavalcade." Those are the results, and we might as well be honest about it. Nobody has to tell me to be a good American. I live here.

Words of the Wise

Virtue, then, as it seems, is a kind of health, beauty and good habit of the soul; and vice its disease, deformity and informity.—Plato.

A people, it appears, may be aggressive for a certain length of time and then stop. When does it stop? When it ceases to possess individuality.—Mill.

A Farmer's Diary

'Teddy Dog' Is Dead

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"TEDDY-DOG is dead," the oldest boy announced, coming in from milking just after daylight. "Poor dog—I wonder what . . ." then his eyes shone moist, and he turned away. "Why, I played with him last evening—and he jumped up and put his paws on my shoulders like he wanted to tell me something. I hugged him hard, and he liked it. He whined when I went out, and wanted to follow.

"I fed him milk after I'd milked—he ate with Punjab, the barn cat and Punjy purred around his front legs and stroked his stiff tail against his belly. The last I saw him was when I went back to see if all the doors were shut. He came to the door and licked my hand and sneezed, then went back to the straw. I found him there this morning, and he didn't come when I called, so I went to look. He wasn't breathing and his eyes were just half shut, but he didn't wag his tail—then I knew he was dead. I can't believe it! Where should we bury him?"

I suggested that since it was a cold Sunday morning, they had better wait until late afternoon and bury him in the old potato patch.

At sundown, I saw the two older boys with a long handled shovel, measuring off a space. Then they dug. After half an hour, a pile of dirt was on either side, and the hole was quite deep. They called me down to ask if it was deep enough. I noticed that with the sharp point of the shovel, they took turns softening the hardened layer of subsoil. "It'll make a softer bed for him to lie on," one said, in answer to my query.

Together they went solemnly to the entry and to the pile of straw. They lifted the dog by his fore and hind paws, and were careful not to drag him, although they stopped to rest before they reached the grave. As though stretching him out to rest, they placed him on the soft bed of earth. Then they covered him, body first, and finally, at dusk, rolled down the top of the highest heap to cover his old white head and ears. After that the hole was quickly rounded up.

"I won't forget how he looked the first time we saw him—remember?" remarked one. "He came across the field with his tail up like a brush, and he was shy at first—then he liked us, and sort of adopted us. We tried to drive him back to his old home—an adjoining farm—"but he'd never stay away long. They said he didn't amount to much—he was afraid every time it thundered and he was gunshy—but he was—he was a swell playmate."
